

HONORED SUPERINTENDENT WELCH

Lowell Chief of Police Elected President of Association

SUPT. REDMOND WELCH,
President Mass. P. R. Association

The Massachusetts Association of Chiefs of Police conferred a signal honor upon Chief Redmond Welch of the Lowell police department by electing him president of the association at the annual meeting held at the American House in Boston last night. The other officers were chosen as follows: Chief Kendall of Somerville, vice president; Chief Carey of Brookline, secretary and treasurer.

In addition to the pleasing personal compliment to Superintendent Welch himself, this evidence of the esteem in which he is held by this great organization of the heads of the police departments of the state, is also a marked distinction for the city of Lowell and one from which her citizens should derive considerable satisfaction. To have her chief of police selected out of the great number of other prominent superintendents in other large cities, for an honor which was entirely undesired and unexpected, is a great honor to the city as well as to the man himself. It comes through the prestige acquired by Mr. Welch throughout the state because of his remarkably efficient work in police circles; that the city of Lowell is enabled to possess and enjoy this distinction of having her official elevated to the position of president of the association of all the other police chiefs of the state.

During his 25 or more years of activity on the local police force, Superintendent Welch has accomplished many difficult feats and on many occasions won the applause and commendation of high officials. Including ex-President Roosevelt. His ability was recognized and he accordingly received one of the highest honors in the police department, when in 1909 he was appointed chief, after having filled the office of deputy for about ten years. During his administration as head of the local department, he effected several captures that were the most important of any made in the state. One of these was the capture of a notorious band of rascals who had terrorized the federal police and terrorized people throughout the country. Another matter upon which he merited true commendation was the manner in which he preserved order and protected life and property during the mill strike last winter. These are but two of his many noteworthy arrests, the others being too numerous to mention.

There was a very large attendance at the meeting last night, there being present the heads of the police departments from the cities in the far western part of the state as well as from the eastern ones and they all evinced great interest in the progress and success of the organization. The advantages of such association and inter-communication of these officials, who meet once a month and enjoy a supper and discussion, is easily seen for it keeps them in close touch with one another and strengthens the system. As a result a criminal who flees from the authorities of one city to another is no safer than he was in the place which he left.

Former Chief of Police Moffatt also served as president of this organization for one term, while he was head of the Lowell police department.

GRANGE MEETING HELD

In Odd Fellows Hall, Centralville

WITH LARGE ATTENDANCE OF THE MEMBERS

Lecture by Prominent Authority on Agricultural Matters—Mrs. Sarre Provides a Program

The Middlesex North Pomona Grange held its regular meeting at the Centralville Odd Fellows hall today. The meeting was divided into two sessions the one in the morning being exclusively for the members while the afternoon session was thrown open to the general public. There was a large number of grangers from the orders of the surrounding towns as this event is looked forward to with much anticipation, especially by the older members.

Mrs. Margaret Sarre, the lecturer of the organization, presided at the morning session. Lecturer's hour passed swiftly under the influence of an interesting discussion on the subject "How shall we grow as to interest all the old, the young, both sexes, the farmer and the city dweller." Many instructive points were brought to light during this discussion which will prove of value to those interested in the advancement of grange benefits.

The morning program also embraced a very interesting memorial service to Father O. H. Kelley, the founder of "The Patrons of Husbandry." An interesting paper was read after which a rose was laid on the altar and the entire grange arose and sang "Forget Not the Deed."

The grangers from Carlisle served their fellow grangers and sisters with a delicious dinner in the lower hall at noon. The repast was enjoyed throughout by the discussion of weather conditions and other topics of interest to the farmers.

The afternoon session was one of entertainment and hearty enjoyment for all those present. The speaker of the afternoon was Mr. Charles H. Green, librarian of the Massachusetts Agricultural college and his remarks were listened to with the greatest interest and appreciation. Mrs. Fred Fletcher of Chelmsford Grange read an instructive paper on "The Value of Sunshine," which aroused many complimentary remarks.

Miss Lottie Vinal of the North Chelmsford Grange rendered several pleasing vocal selections, accompanied by Miss Grace Lombard of the Westford Grange. These two ladies proved the feature of the entertainment. Mr. A. D. Bryant was the same laugh producer that he always is with his stories of dry humor.

FATALLY BURNED

JOSEPHINE BORENSKI, AGE 7 YEARS, MET WITH TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

Parents at Work, While Child Was Horribly Burned About Face, Arms and Body

A little seven year old girl whose name is Josephine Borenski was perhaps fatally burned this morning at a house on Middlesex street about 10.30. She is now in a dying condition at St. John's hospital.

The story of this frightful accident as near as it could be learned by a Sun reporter, is as follows: The father and mother of the victim are both employed in a local mill and on going to their work this morning, left their little girl in the care of another woman who has six children of her own, and who lives in a house in Middlesex street across from the drug store of Nathan Peike. This morning the woman went out to make some purchases at a store and left the children alone in the house, with a fire burning in the stove. During her absence, one of her own children seized a piece of paper in his play and lighted it from the stove. The flames somehow or other caught on the hair of the little Borenski girl who was nearby and soon her clothing and hair were completely ablaze. Her cries and those of the other child attracted the neighbors who ran to her aid but before the flames were extinguished she had been horribly burned about the face, arms and body. A hurry call was sent in for the ambulance which was soon upon the scene and conveyed the victim to St. John's hospital.

A physician at the latter institution said that the child's condition is dangerous and that there is hardly a possibility of her recovering.

BEACH CASE GOES TO THE JURY

Arguments Were Completed This Morning—Jury Took Case at 1.14 O'Clock

AIKEN, S. C., Feb. 7.—When court convened today in the case of Frederick O. Beach, the wealthy New Yorker, charged with attacking his wife, indications were that the case would reach the jury in a few hours. Judge Spain said that two hours would be given the defense and one hour for the prosecution for summing up. Solicitor Gunther began the summing up for the state. Introduction of testimony was concluded before court adjourned last night.

The society colony of Aiken turned out in force to attend what was expected to be the last day of the trial. Mrs. Beach, attired in brown, sat beside her husband.

Consensus Barnes addressed the jury for the defense. He contended that the prosecution had failed to produce any evidence to connect Beach with the assault. As he spoke Mrs. Beach appeared weary for the first time during the trial. Hearing her chin upon a gloved hand she gazed at the lawyer through tired eyes.

Mr. Barnes spoke for half an hour and then withdrew the remainder of the time to the judge and to W. O. Davis for the defense.

Col. Henderson closed for the defense.

"What notice did I. B. Beach have for cutting his wife?" asked Col. Henderson, addressing the jury.

"Not only has the prosecution failed to prove that Beach committed the assault but it was unable to show any reason for his doing so. He did not do it and the one who was assaulted has told you that he did not do it. Would you convict a yellow dog on the evidence that has been offered against Beach here?"

Col. Henderson concluded shortly before noon and after a short recess Prosecutor Gunther began his closing argument.

The prosecutor attacked the story told by Mrs. Beach, terming it a "mere fabrication, no more or less." He said it was absurd for her to claim that the alleged negro assailant had forced her to the ground with his two hands and afterward hit her on the head with a stick she said he was carrying when he entered the yard.

Mrs. Beach never told how she got around the corner of the house where her ear-rings and combs were found," declared the solicitor. "She claims to have been forced to run knees on the front walk. Then again, Mrs. Beach says she did not scream until after the negro had cut her. Don't you know that she screamed and kept screaming the minute her assailant, who ever it was, touched her? All that story was made up by Beach and afterward corroborated by Mrs. Beach for his protection."

The case went to the jury at 1.14.

It will be satisfaction in great measure to Judge Pickman, who is about to retire from active participation in parks and playgrounds, to learn that Lowell's playgrounds, during his time as a member of the playgrounds committee of the park board have earned an international reputation and that pictures of playground carnivals in this city adorn the pages of no less a publication than the Les Amis de Paris. The editor, Georges Benoit-Levy, has sent a marked copy and a personal letter to Supt. Whitely of the park department. The editor congratulates, in very hearty terms, the park commission of Lowell for the splendid success of the playground work in this city and requests that Mr. Whitely furnish further information in regard to management and development.

LIBRARY TRUSTEES WANT $18,000

For the Maintenance and Administration of the Lowell Public Library

City Librarian Frederick A. Chase, in accordance with instructions received from the library trustees at their last meeting, has submitted a report to the municipal council, asking for $18,000 for the maintenance of the public library. The report is as follows:

CITY LIBRARY
Lowell, Mass., Feb. 5, '13.
To the Honorable Municipal Council of the City of Lowell.

Gentlemen:

At a recent meeting of the trustees of the library I was directed to advise the municipal council that it was the unanimous opinion of the trustees that the sum of $18,000 was absolutely required for the maintenance and efficient administration of the library.

I was directed also to submit the following figures showing the amounts appropriated in other Massachusetts cities having a 25,000 population, excluding Boston.

City	Population	Library
Worcester	100,000	$42,735
Fall River	29,000	112,295
Lowell	14,500	106,294
Cambridge	23,350	104,938
New Bedford	22,511	96,652
Springfield	18,448	83,826
Lyons	21,327	83,336
Lawrence	18,863	85,832
Somerville	15,500	57,250
Holyoke	14,200	56,878
Brockton	12,221	44,464
Malden	12,032	44,115
Haverhill	15,500	43,027
Newton	23,014	39,808
Fitchburg	8,365	37,324
Taunton	9,318	35,529
Everett	12,331	32,184
Chelsea	11,467	32,612
Pittsfield	9,000	32,121
Waltham	6,730	27,534
Brookline	25,000	27,021
Chicopee	5,500	25,401

From this table it will be seen that Lowell appropriates for library use much less than cities of its size in fact about as much as cities half its size.

Another comparison is interesting in this connection when the city made the following appropriations:

Year	Library	Schools
1890	$13,000	$210,000
1895	$14,000	$275,320
1900	$15,725	$311,000
1905	$19,399	$311,000
1910	$25,000	$420,953

This table shows that while the city of Lowell has provided liberally for the support of its schools and has recognized their public increasing needs from year to year the increasing needs of the library have not been recognized.

While the city has grown in population from 17,000 in 1890 to 136,294 in 1910, the amount appropriated for library use has shown little change during the same period in spite of the fact that the number of the library is each year increasing.

The schools provide education for some 15,000 pupils. The library is expected to furnish liberally these same pupils with reading in connection with their studies and at the same time to furnish to the rest of the city's population its chief opportunity for self education.

The John Davis Fund

Until we first began to get an income from the Davis fund, some six years ago, the increasing needs of the library with the city's growth were recognized and provided for. Since that time we have received our requests for a larger appropriation have been met by directing our attention to the fact that we were receiving some $1400 a year from the Davis fund and either pressed or implied recommendations to use this money. By being obliged to use money to "spend in a way that would increase the value and importance of its collections."

What use is being made of the income of this fund? The income as we have stated is about $4,400. The salary of the attendant in the children's room and the expense of the Sunday opening of the library, amounting to $1,000, is provided for out of it, thereby saving the city the expense of these items. The balance of about $3,400 is available for books for the library and for other purposes.

A proper use of money left as a memorial would be to spend it only on books of permanent value.

To spend this money on new fiction which is notoriously short-lived and ephemeral in interest and the books themselves soon worn out, or to spend the money in rebinding old fiction is an improper use of this fund. But rather than that the users of the library should be deprived of a reasonable amount of popular books and fiction we were obliged to draw heavily upon the

JURORS ARE STILL OUT

On the Case of Wisner and Meyers

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The jurors in the case of A. N. Wisner and John J. Meyers, charged with using the mails to promote worthless stocks were still deliberating at one o'clock this afternoon unable to agree on a verdict more than 24 hours after the case had been given into their hands. Court called for the defense made a motion for their discharge on the ground that they had deliberated for a sufficient time. The motion was denied.

"I can readily understand how a jury after a trial lasting nine weeks may require considerable time for deliberation," said Judge Mack, "and I purpose, before discharging you, to give you much more ample time in the hope that you may reach an agreement."

2000 VISIT ALBERTO

Freed Lifer Accepts Position as Mechanic

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—More than 2000 friends visited Charles Alberto, who was pardoned Wednesday by Governor Foss, after serving thirteen years of a life sentence for the murder of his wife in 1900 at Holyoke, at his home, 11 Hinchman street, yesterday.

Alberto saw clearly yesterday, for the first time in thirteen years, the remarkable changes in Boston. He referred especially to the East Boston tunnel and the Elevated.

In company with Joseph Daniels, who was very influential in securing the pardon, Alberto visited the automobile shops of Stanley Brothers in Newton. When Alberto was confined in state prison the Stanley brothers took a great interest in him and his wonderful mechanical devices. They have offered him a position in their automobile shops as a mechanic, and Alberto has accepted. He will start to work Monday.

"It seems like a dream," said Alberto to a reporter last evening. "As I walked through the streets today I could hardly believe that I am a free man. I am very grateful to my friends who helped to secure my release, and to Governor Foss and his council, who pardoned me. I shall visit them next week and assure them that they will not be ashamed of me."

A "cello, a cabinet, several violins and three clarionets, which Alberto made in prison, are expected to arrive at his home today.

300,000 Pension Checks on Time

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The first checks paid to pensioners under the new system, which did away with the 15 agencies in various parts of the country and united them here under one head, have just gone out, and every one of the more than 300,000 due this month were in the mail on time.

"The crucial test, the one which we were not sure we would be able to pass successfully, has been made without a hitch," said Dr. Alvah H. Thompson, in charge of the disbursements, today, after the last pensioner's check had started on its way. "On account of the vast work involved in bringing in all these agencies with their voluminous records, it was feared there might be some delay this first month, but such is not the case."

CHELMSFORD GRANGE MEETING

Stereopticon Lecture Enjoyed and Program Arranged for Future Meetings

Live Bits of Sport

Plans for a swimming team from the Y. M. C. A. are nearly completed by the members of the athletic committee in charge of the branch of sport. Mr. John W. Daly, All the creek swimmers in town including Tom Gallagher, Jackson Palmer, and Matt McCann have been interested in this project and negotiations are being made for contests. With this trio for a nucleus the local team should have a state-wide "trip."

In another month Manner Gray's office in the Hildreth building will be a busy place. The pre-season preparations always mean a tremendous amount of detail work for all concerned with a baseball club and this year will be one of greater activities owing to the completion of the present plans for a modern ball park Lowell will have the finest baseball home on the circuit.

The crusade of Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston for an athletic field for the municipal schools of that city reminds us of the fact that the local school boys athletes have no permanent grounds for their games. A few years ago a few sighted young men proceeded to secure an option on all the available enclosed parks where the school teams could hold their sports and arrangements that were satisfactory to the school authorities. The school sports pay for themselves.

With the passing of Mike Murphy from actively in athletics the game will lose the greatest trainer of them all. Mike has written Manager Frasier of the University of Pennsylvania, announcing his retirement from the athletic game. Whether the veteran trainer can be induced to again take up the reins of athletic supervision in case of complete recovery from his injury is a hard question to decide. The old spry will find it very difficult to part with an occupation that always meant more to him than the mere intrinsic value. Mike is known throughout the length and breadth of the land and there is not a spot on the map where he can not find friends. He has trained more champions than any other trainer and his criticisms of athletes and athletics has always been taken at their face value.

All the talking that the Boston newspapers are doing doesn't count for the Harvard athletic committee in the least. If they see fit to play Dartmouth they will and good and if not they will not. The Harvard athletic committee will influence their decision. This is only a natural attitude for them to take and the men who began the crusade for the Harvard school of athletics and athletics has always been taken at their face value.

The Merrimacks defeated the Concordians in their match with 18-11. The score of 18-11 was a close and interesting game. Phelps of the Merrimacks was the high man with 21.

The Y. M. C. I. Bowling league produced the Athletics and the Quakers in a good six-man team game at the club alleys. The Athletics won out by 12 pins. Harrington's total of 230 was the highest that was put up.

The Old Fellows were no match for the Young Ones in their three-men game last night. The Old Ones were strong finishers, however, and succeeded in tying up the last string.

The bowling team from Proctor's Shop defeated the team from the Pure Food Packing Company in their match of long standing by the score of 12-2 to 11-3. McCann's total of 278 was high.

The Monuments and the Clan Archer, two-men teams, boxed a slow game to a win for the last mentioned team. Each team captured a string.

The scores were as follows:

NEW NORMAL SCHOOL COURSES

Commissioner Snedden Distributes Specialties in Different Cities

The Normal schools throughout the state are changing their courses to meet the demand for vocational training so that hereafter it will not be necessary to appoint as industrial schools people who know nothing at all about the art of teaching. Commissioner Snedden of the state board of education is distributing the new specialties through the different schools of the state. Thus, for example, the Lowell Normal has special training for supervisors of music and of public playgrounds; Worcester, supervisors of kindergarten work; North Adams, supervisors of agricultural work.

The course in the household arts department in the Framingham Normal school has been made three years in length, and a like change has been made in the department for the training of commercial teachers in the State Normal school. A department for the training of teachers of manual arts, open only to men who have had some experience in industry, has been organized in the Pittsburg Normal school. It is the purpose of the board, through this department, to provide teachers of the manual arts for the upper grades of the elementary schools and for the high schools, who shall be well equipped with practical knowledge. As a result of extended conferences, several normal schools are shaping the work of the regular two-year students so as to fit them for teaching in the first six grades. Steps are being taken during the current year to organize at Pittsburg, Bridgewater and Salem three-year courses specially designed to prepare teachers for the higher grammar grades. It all goes the aim has been to attain a more exact definition of professional work. Discussions with normal school teachers show that these teachers should comprehend more

DR. DAVID SNEDDEN
Commissioner of EducationWHEN A LAXATIVE IS NEEDED—"CASCARETS."GENTLY CLEANSE YOUR LIVER AND CONSTIPATED BOWELS
WHILE YOU SLEEP

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your liver, stomach and bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have indigestion, coated tongue, can't sleep, are nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, green, disordered stomach, or have headache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartics or castor oil? This is important. Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and food gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poisons from the intestines and bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means healthy, sweet action, a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

board have held conference with superintendents of schools at the Hyannis summer school, which has served to bring the board of education into more intimate contact with the work of the unit superintendents. The attendance at the Hyannis school for the summer of 1912 was 229. A school, with a session of one week, was held at the North Adams normal school during the summer of 1912, just prior to the opening of the schools in the Berkshires. Upward of 300 teachers and superintendents were in attendance. The normal school at North Adams has for two years conducted correspondence courses with country teachers, and thus, at comparatively little added expense, has in a large measure extended its influence, especially among young teachers having their first actual experience.

Vocational Education
Vocational education in Massachusetts is making steady progress. Pains-taking attention must, however, be given to working out detailed programs in the training of teachers, to the discovery of opportunities for productive work, and to the further enlightenment of public interest. It is believed that part-time vocational education offers the largest opportunity for the immediate future wherever employers find it possible to co-operate. Agencies must be established for the training of industrial teachers. Herbert the state has relied for teachers upon persons who have had experience in manual training or related fields, or upon stilling mechanics. The supply of teachers does not equal the demand. The board of education has in view measures looking to the systematic development of training agencies.

During the past two years the commission of education has organized committees of normal school teachers to prepare courses of study in the

END LIVER TROUBLE
Loosen the Teeth, Now Made

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are the most effective and healthful remedy for liver and bile troubles. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' discovery of a great liver and bowel-cleansing effect of olive oil. Dr. Edwards has been especially successful in curing liver and bile troubles. His clients to thank him for his discovery of a great liver and bowel-cleansing effect of olive oil. They don't injure the teeth like strong drugs do. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong purgatives. It is time to take calomel at all, but to let Olive Tablets take their place.

several subjects for the elementary schools of the towns in superintendents. Courses of study adapted to the first six grades have been outlined in considerable detail, and as prescriptive, but as suggestions to superintendents. These courses were completed and distributed at the beginning of the present school year and have already demonstrated their value. In 1911, Julius E. Warren, agent of the board, prepared a special bulletin on agricultural projects suitable for use in rural schools.

The commissioner of education for some time has recommended a reorganization of the schools in densely populated communities, whereby children of the first six grades shall be educated in school buildings located reasonably near the homes of the pupils, where pupils over 12 years of age are to be taught in central schools, in which departmental work and differentiated courses of study are to be given. Four conferences of city superintendents have been held with a view of discussing details of the proposed reorganization. The city of Beverly and the town of Walpole, after serious consideration, have inaugurated experiments along the lines recommended.

In several directions it would be profitable for the board to establish in an advisory way agencies for the promotion of public education throughout the commonwealth in addition to those now in operation. Under the law all towns and cities are required to maintain medical inspection.

There is need, however, of a state agent, fully qualified in this field, who should visit and co-operate with the towns in maintaining and rendering

Doctors Said He Had Dropsy

Some time ago I had an attack of grippe which finally settled in my kidneys and bladder. I doctored with the doctors and they claimed I had dropsy. I tried other remedies and got no relief from any of them. My condition was such that I was unable to work for about two months and the annoying symptoms caused me a great deal of trouble and pain. I was hardly able to turn over in bed. Seeing one of your Almanacs, I decided to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial and after taking several bottles was able to resume my work again. I cannot say too much in praise of your Swamp-Root as the results in my case were truly wonderful.

Yours very truly,

more effective such medical inspection. Again, it would be an advantage to education in Massachusetts if the state employed a specially trained agent who would give his services to communities in the enforcement of the laws on compulsory education on the census and on the oversight and custody of tramps.

The state-aided vocational schools of Massachusetts are designed to fit persons above 14 years of age for work in the shop, in the home or on the farm, not for service in business or the professions. These schools are supported jointly by the communities in which they are located and by the state; the former building, equipping and operating the plant, and the state reimbursing one half of the cost of maintenance.

Twenty-three approved state-aided vocational schools, classified as administrative units without regard to number of activities are in operation in 19 cities and towns of the commonwealth. Of these the following were established during the school year 1911-1912 and have been approved provisionally: Boston, Continuation School of Home-making; Everett Independent Evening Industrial school; Holyoke Independent Evening Industrial school; Lowell Independent Industrial school; Quincy Independent Evening Industrial school; Somerville Industrial school for girls; Springfield Independent Day Industrial school for boys; Watertown Independent Evening Industrial school; Westfield Independent Industrial school for boys; Worcester Trade school for girls.

GOOD WEATHER FOR ICE

Dealers Are Taking Advantage of it

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—Cold weather during the past week has practically dispelled fears of a great ice shortage in New England this summer. Harvesting of the crop has been begun in the northern states and with the weather continuing cold it was expected that the cutting of ice would be started in southern New England next week. Boston ice men declared today that the crop harvested this winter would be considerably smaller than that of last year because of the lateness of the season. They stated that the problem to be faced now was to house the ice before the spring thaws set in.

A number of dealers in this city have been obliged to turn to New Hampshire for their crop. Large ponds have been leased in this state, where the ice was reported to be of good quality and from time to time 15 inches thick. The dealers have shipped much of the ice to their houses near Boston.

Ponds in northern Massachusetts are coated with ice from three to nine inches thick. The dealers have completed plans for having in the yearly harvest. With a few more cold days it was expected the ice companies would be able to cut good crops on the Penobscot and Kennebec rivers in Maine. In Rhode Island few dealers have reported more than six inches on their ponds.

IN SOUTH CHELMSFORD

Mrs. H. H. Bickford's Barn
Totally Destroyed

Fire totally destroyed the spacious grain barn owned by Mrs. H. H. Bickford, shortly after 10 o'clock on Wednesday night. The building was used for storing grain and had been leased to Alvin Fletcher. In spite of the efforts of the fire department to subdue the flames, the structure was quickly consumed and laid in ashes. The barn was located near the First Baptist church in the rear of the latter, but no serious damage to the church resulted from this dangerous proximity.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Brann were guests of relatives in Boston over Saturday.

Mrs. John R. Emerson has been visiting in Westboro the past week. The young people of the village gave a pretty dancing party in the hall last Saturday night.

A delegation from the "Farther Lights" attended a rally at the Fifth Street church, Lowell, last night.

The Ladies' social circle held a meeting in the vestry Wednesday afternoon. Supper was in charge of Mrs. Fadden and Mrs. Fish.

Several undertakers of the city have responded enthusiastically to invitations and are planning a "whale" of a time. They have decorated the dance program with blithesome little requests to let them select "Your last resting place" to "Seek us in the end" and have garnished the little leaflet with life-like cuts of coffins, metal caskets and concrete burial vaults.

The club, recently organized, has waited vainly for one of its members to die and afford the opportunity for a really joyous funeral. A ball was decided upon as a substitute, and St. Valentine's—a day largely devoted to happy conceits—as the time.

FINANCES OF FORDWAY BRIDGE

Being Cleared Up by the Town of Billerica—Prize for Corn Show Trade Mark

At a meeting of the board of selectmen held Monday evening a bill for $2050 was approved as the final payment on the new Fordway bridge. While the work of grading each side of the bridge has not yet been finished the town has presented a check of $2000 permitting the town to settle with the contractors. The last payment has been made by the Bay State Street Railroad and the sum of $15 is left to grade the approaches to the bridge. The selectmen have petitioned the Massachusetts state highway commission under the provisions of chapter 27A, acts of 1908 for $2500, the town to appropriate a similar sum at the next annual town meeting, to build new roads between the Billerica-Burlington and the Billerica-Chelmsford town lines.

The statute relative to such appropriations is as follows:

"The commission shall allot for and expend in such towns the valuation of which does not exceed one million dollars, and in such amounts, as it determines, 5 per cent. of the amount appropriated each year for the construction of state highways, to be used in constructing and repairing ways in such towns; and it shall not be a condition precedent that such towns shall make any appropriation or contribution in excess of the usual annual appropriations for highway purposes to become eligible for an expenditure under this section. Said commission may also allot for and expend in such towns for like purposes in addition to any expenditures herein provided for, a further amount at 5 per cent. of said amount appropriated, if such towns appropriate or contribute, to be expended under the provisions of this section, an amount equal to the amount allotted by the commission. Said commission may also allot and expend a further amount of not more than 5 per cent. of said amount appropriated each year for the construction of state highways in towns, the valuation of which exceeds one million dollars, in such amounts as it determines. If such towns appropriate, to be expended under the provisions of this section, an amount, in addition to the average annual appropriations for repairs of highways in such towns for the preceding five years, exclusive of appropriations for contributions under this section, equal to the amount allotted by said commission. No town, the valuation of which is less than one million dollars, and which makes no appropriation or contribution under the provisions of this section, shall receive in any one year more than 40 per cent. of its average annual appropriations for highways purposes for the preceding five years; provided, however, that said commission may allot in any year a sum not exceeding $400 to any such town, the said average appropriation of which does not exceed $1000. Such allotments and expenditures shall be made only upon the petition of the selectmen of the towns and the provisions of section 12 shall apply thereto, but a way constructed or repaired under the provisions of this section shall not thereby become a state highway. After a highway has been improved by said commission under the provisions of this section it may from time to time expend such sums as it may deem necessary for the maintenance and repair thereof as provided in section 15; and the whole or any part thereof, not exceeding $50 a mile in any one year, may be certified, collected and credited or may be repaid by it as provided in section 16.

The Asa John Patton circle, Ladies of the G. A. P., met in the Gardner Parker hall Wednesday afternoon and a great deal of business was transacted. A large number of ladies were present. Mrs. Nina R. Gardner, president of the circle, invited the ladies of the circle, the comrades and the sons of veterans to her home on Lincoln's birthday. The members are requested to bring something for refreshments.

Corn Show Trade Mark

A citizen of Billerica has offered a prize of $5 to the man, woman or child for the best design for a corn show trade mark for the corn show to be held in this town next October. The contest will close on Friday, Feb. 21. The rules are as follows:

The sketch may be drawn in any size—it should not be too small, because it will be reduced when the plate is made, but must contain the words "Billerica Corn Show" and any motto or ornamentation that may be devised must be appropriate to corn raising.

The judges will be the "corn show" committee appointed by the Billerica board of trade and the Billerica grange. The prize will be awarded during the week of Feb. 23.

An addition is being made to the lumber yard of John Richardson at Bennett Hall. The new building will be used for a wood working shop and will be operated by an electric motor.

Iceberg Invade Steamship Lanes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Icebergs and flocks are rapidly bearing down on the northern steamship lanes, and unless cold weather sets in to cement the ice fields, officials of the navy hydrographic office fear shipping will be endangered. The navy department yesterday sent broadcast warnings of the reported ice. A huge ice field extending as far as the horizon east and north from the Grand Banks was reported by the British steamship Valerica. The steamship Ordinaire informed the navy department by wire that a huge berg, 450 feet long and 50 feet in height, was drifting southward toward the steamship lanes.

CATTLE AID INSPECTED

Feature of Massachusetts Agricultural College Extension School at Newburyport

NEWBURYPORT, Feb. 7.—The feature of yesterday's session of the extension school of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, being held in this city this week, was a trip to the Fairbank farm at Ryehill, owned by F. F. Burke, to inspect a herd of Ayrshire cattle recently imported from Scotland. The trip was in charge of G. F. Story.

"Poultry raising" was one of the chief topics of the day, and the subject brought to the school Prof. J. C. Graham, who made his first appearance here as an instructor. Other talks during the day were by F. D. Wald and Mr. Story.

Yesterday Miss Alice Bunde addressed the home-makers' section on "The Making of a Coat." Last evening there was a round table discussion in the interests of rural residents who are employed in the city. The attendance at the sessions was the largest it has been since the school was opened.

The members of Branch St. Andre, A. C. F., held their regular meeting in Grafton hall last evening and installed the recently elected officers. The installing officer was Clarence D. Coteaux, a past president. Officers installed were: first vice president, Ferdinand Theriault; secretary-treasurer, Edmund Berger; chief marshal, Calixte Boucher; assistant marshal, Charles Normandin; trustees, Joseph Dion, William Brautigan and Lucien Fleche; chaplain, Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I.

At the close of the business meeting refreshments were served and an entertainment program was enjoyed.

Lawrence E. Wright, Aged 8, Probably Fatally Injured While Constant at Needham

NEEDHAM, Feb. 7.—Lawrence E. Wright, an 8-year-old boy, was yesterday fatally injured in a coasting accident late yesterday afternoon.

The little fellow was coasting on Rosemary street, Needham Heights, and as he was rounding a sharp curve ran into the rear of an automobile, owned by William H. Carter and operated by Paul Warner.

The machine was stopped at once and the boy was placed in the car, which raced to the Glover hospital where an operation was performed by Dr. Brewster. He was found to have sustained a severe fracture of the skull and it is not expected that the boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wright.

Grace Church Coffee Party

The coffee party at Grace church last night was well attended and fairly teemed with sociability. There was a fine entertainment consisting of a two-act comedy, entitled "Six Kleptomaniacs," with the following cast: "Claire Reynolds," the real Kleptomaniac, Mrs. Sarah Dion; "Fannie," the maid, Mrs. Eva Barton; "Mrs. Reynolds," Mrs. Minnie Safford; "Ina White," an old friend, Mrs. Blanche Murphy; "Claudia Snell," meddler, Mrs. Marion Barton; "Mrs. Thaddeus Lynch," manœuvre artist, Mrs. Isa Randall; "Carrie Brown," the flyin' angel, Mrs. Ella Wines; "Crooks Washington Jones," a kleptomaniac recommended by "President Roosevelt," Mrs. Carrie Harris; "Brigitte de Flanagan," a kleptomaniac and French linguist, Mrs. Eleanor Farnham; "Madame Joliet," who had hoped to be the widow of 10 men, Mrs. Gertrude Martin.

Mrs. P. H. Safford had general charge of the entertainment.

BILL TO APPOINT WOMEN

Mayor Duane's Petition is Held Up

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—The effort of Mayor Duane of Waltham to get through legislation to permit the appointment of two women as department heads in his city was checked yesterday when the city committee of the house postponed action on a bill which he seeks to have introduced. Mayor Duane says his purpose is to give the city two of the best officials it has ever had.

Backed by a dozen supporters, the mayor went before the rules committee to explain why he had not filed his bill before the time limit had expired. He had delayed, he said, because of the uncertainty as to whether one of the women would accept. The matter was not one of politics, he declared, as the two republican newspapers had supported his action editorially.

W. J. Barry, who opposed the mayor's bill, said that a special committee of the board of aldermen had reported against the plan and the report had been accepted by the board. He described the act of the mayor as "just a whim" and his bill "frank legislation."

Ex-Mayor B. B. Johnson opposed the bill on the ground that the mayor was trying to step in and supersede the board of aldermen. He had been told by the city solicitor, he said, that changes in the charter would be necessary in order to appoint the women to office.

DIES AT AGE OF 82

Mrs. Nancy Tyler of Andover Died in That Town All of Her Life—Was 111 a Long Time

ANDOVER, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Nancy Tyler, aged 82, died at her home, 49 Whittier street yesterday after a long illness. She was born in Andover and had resided here all her life. She was one of the oldest members of the Old South church.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Myron E. Guttererson of this town, and a son George Tyler of Malden. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon and the body will be taken to Mt. Auburn for cremation.

MADE DOG BITES THREE

Others Have Narrow Escape at Hills Grove, R.I.

HILLSGROVE, R. I., Feb. 7.—Three persons were bitten and several others had narrow escapes when a dog went on a rampage here yesterday.

Alfred Gendry was bitten in the back and on the right arm.

George L. Henderson, a Warwick constable, had a struggle with the animal, and both his arms were lacerated before he finally shook off the animal.

Theodore Barrette, 8 years old, was bitten on one arm while on his way to school.

William Baker, an employee of the Elizabeth mill, saw the excitement and, obtaining a shotgun, killed the dog.

The dog is said to have belonged to a farmer. It is claimed that the animal had an ugly disposition and had been kept confined, but that it broke away from its kennel early yesterday.

All the injured persons were hurried to the office of Dr. Hagenow, where their wounds were cauterized. The dog's head will be sent to the biological laboratory at Brown university for examination.

Physicians Exonerated

ODDENSEBURG, N. Y., Feb. 7.—A scanning of the court's findings in the recent damage suit settled here in favor of the plaintiff, the Rev. L. A. Klauder, shows that the two physicians who were named as defendants in the action were exonerated by the jury and will not be called upon to pay the $15,000 damages awarded to Klauder.

Rev. L. A. Klauder named as defendant in his suit Bishop Gabriels of the diocese of Ogdensburg; Conductor Bishop Conroy and Drs. W. B. Hanbridge and W. G. Cooper of the Ogdensburg state hospital for the insane. He charged all of them with conspiracy which resulted in false imprisonment. In returning a verdict in his behalf the jury exonerated the physicians of the conspiracy charge and the damages awarded, if sustained by the higher courts, must be paid by the clergy.

U. S. KERR IN RECITAL

Fine Program at First Universalist Church

The First Universalist church last evening presented Ulysses S. Kerr in a song recital which was very pleasing to the large and select audience which had gathered in the church vestry. The musical program was one of the best ever given in this city considering the fact that Mr. Kerr with his accompanist, Frank Luker, constituted the entire program.

The clever artist who possesses an extraordinarily fine basso voice, selected some of the most difficult vocal selections and rendered them in a most commendable manner.

The program consisted of the following numbers:

Kypis (French) ..... Holmes
Elegie (French) ..... Massenet
Kismet (Norwegian) ..... Korling
My Star ..... Mrs. H. H. A. Beach
Water Down to Rio ..... Germain
The Ballad of Trees and the Master, Chadwick
The Land of the Leal ..... Foote
The Forest To The Stars ..... Stephens
Piano solo, Etude in F sharp minor, Frank Luker
Furl-bondo Spira li vento, (Italian) Handel Song to the Evening Star, from "Hanshauser" ..... Wagner Ouflet ich die Hertzentriller ..... Schmitt Sehnsucht ..... Strauss
Die Ehre Gottes ..... Beethoven
Toreador Song from "Carmen" ..... Bizet

The talented singer rendered his selections in four different languages, French, English, Italian and Norwegian, and each number was received with tremendous applause.

What is impressing with Mr. Kerr's singing is his remarkable breath control and the flexibility of his voice, for he does not chop his melody into short phrases, but loves the long musical line. He is able to sustain a tone, to increase or diminish its power almost at will.

All numbers were very pleasing, but the last, the "Toreador" song, was exceedingly well rendered. Despite the fact that the program was long and in different languages, Mr. Kerr gave it entirely from memory.

Mr. Frank Luker is not only a clever accompanist, but also a refined musician. He rendered the Etude in F sharp by MacDowell, and his playing was so charming, that the audience was so charmed, that they responded to respond to an encore.

All in all the recital was one of the best ever heard in this city, and such musical feats ought to be given more often, for in Lowell there is a certain number of lovers of good music who can appreciate it.

BIG IRON LAND SUIT

Government Moves to Oust Southern Pacific

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—A contest involving 4000 acres of mineral land in Riverside county, California, comprising iron claims said to be worth millions of dollars, is to be instituted in the United States land office here, according to an announcement made yesterday by G. W. Helm, in charge of the field division of the land office.

The contest will be begun by the government in an effort to oust the Iron Chief Mining company, said to be a subsidiary of the South Pacific Railroad company, which is a defendant in oil suits in the federal courts here involving land valued at $250,000,000.

According to land officials in Los Angeles, the Iron Chief company, after expending $1,500,000 in buying up the claims of other entrymen in the Riverside field, asked the government in 1910 and 1911 for patents on the property. Helm made an investigation, and filed with the general land office in Washington a report in which objections to the granting of patents to the Iron Chief Mining company were made on the following grounds:

That the company had not complied with the requirements of the government law; that the assessment work had been done by a contractor; that the contractor had not performed work to the stipulated extent of $500 a year on each claim, but had done his work on the land as a whole wherever access was the easiest; that the ore where the development work was performed did not justify the entry to the land under mineral claim laws, and that a claim filed upon with the above purpose in that manner.

The verdict of the general land office in Washington was received here yesterday. It sustained Mr. Helm's contentions, and he at once prepared to file notices of contest against the company.

It was said to have been a desire of the late E. H. Harriman to erect a great smelter on the southern California coast, to be operated by oil from the Iron county fields and kept busy with iron ore from Riverside county.

BOSTON BAKED APPLE

Traveling Man Writes The Sun from Lyndonville, N. Y., on How to Prepare It

Lyndonville, N. Y. (Orleans Co.)

Dear Sir:—Up here in the great apple belt of New York state, I have again re-learned how to eat and enjoy apples. I want to tell some of my old friends in Lowell through your popular paper, a little about the first place we people who live in the country, somehow, seem to lose sight of the apple, more or less, except as it comes to us in the form of pie or something of the sort, and really don't think much about it, but it is the most healthful, delicious and economical dainty in the world.

The reason for these raptures, especially in a dish that was served to me last night and which was so delightful and so new to me that I delighted in it to the kitchen and got the recipe for "Baked Apples." Here it is:

Peel and quarter good sweet apples. Put them in a Boston baked bean pot, or some other similarly covered dish, and water enough to about one-fourth cover. Add a little butter, and with plenty of sugar, then put in oven and bake until quarters are melting. What my hostess said, I think that when apples are so cheap this year such a delight is within the reach of everybody, we want to hurry it into The Sun.

Most truly,
Traveling Man.

GRAFTS BONE FROM SHIN

To Save the Spine of a Salem Man

SALFEM, Feb. 7.—Thomas Flynn, of 4 River street, is resting comfortably at the Salem hospital after a surgical operation, in which a piece of one of his shinsbones was grafted on his spinal column, which had been weakened by tuberculosis and threatened to make him a hunchback.

The operation was performed by Dr. Harvey F. Newhall of Lynn. It is new in surgery and was first performed by Dr. Allen of New York. Few doctors in New England have attempted to perform it.

Dr. Newhall said after the operation: "Everything went off beautifully and I think the patient is going to be all right."

I made a groove down the spinous processes and inserted a narrow piece taken from the shinbone. This will form a living splint which will support the backbone. The operation replaces the old method of keeping the patient in a plaster cast for two years. The loss of a portion of the shinbone will not cripple the patient."

FORMER LUNATIC CONFESSES TO SENDING BOMBS THAT KILLED WOMEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—John Paul Farrell, ex-convict and lunatic, has confessed to the police that he had made the bomb that killed Mrs. Bernardo Herrera in her home in the Bronx last Sunday night and Helen Taylor in her flat in West Seventy-seventh street a year ago, besides the one that nearly cost Judge Otto Roskoff's life last March. The man's confession is contradictory in many details, and the police have obtained no corroboration of his tale of responsibility for the bomb outrages of a year ago. Apparently insane now, as he was several years ago when in an asylum, he may have read the details of the Taylor and Roskoff bomb explosions and transplanted them into his perverted brain when copying them for his own use in the attack on the Herrera family. Of his authorship of the Bronx crime the police entertain no doubt. In blowing up Mrs. Bernardo Herrera, her husband and Miss Sarah Fairlightman, Farrell said that he did not intend murder, but wished simply to take revenge upon the Herreras for discharging him as assistant janitor of the apartment house at 1415 Fulton avenue, the Bronx, where Mrs. Herrera was killed.

MR. AND MRS. FINLEY J. SHEPARD START FOR EGYPT ON HONEYMOON

MR. AND MRS. FINLEY J. SHEPARD

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Finley J. Shepard and his bride, who was Miss Helen M. Gould, are on their way to Europe on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie. Their destination, they declared, was Egypt, where they will explore the Nile in easy stages. They intend to return in the spring after visiting in Berlin. The names of the bridal couple did not appear on the printed passenger list, but their passage had been arranged for some days ago, and the fact that they were to sail was well known among their friends, as attested by the flowers that filled their stateroom and the array of messenger boys who bore telegrams to the pier before the ship sailed. The Shepards arrived at the pier in their automobile and shortly afterward were joined by the Duke and Duchess de Talleyrand, the former Anna Gould, and her son, the little Prince de Sagan.

safe bet that in the near future they will place the work of Kenyon Cox above all the rest.

Why? Oh, just because Kenyon Cox is the man who has designed the new currency for the United States.

It was announced recently that on or about Feb. 15, Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh would give to Director Ralph of the bureau of engraving and printing the order to go ahead with the printing of the new notes. Soon every one of Uncle Sam's sons and daughters old enough to know the value of money, including the before mentioned art collectors, will be reaching out for specimens of the work of Mr. Cox.

The design on the backs of the new notes is symbolic of the progress of the United States on the lines of labor and commerce, the sources of all wealth. The public must wait until it acquires specimens of the new bills before passing judgment on the artistic merit of the work of Mr. Cox, for it is against the law to reproduce the designs of money.

But the merit of the design is assured by the high standing of Mr. Cox, who is ranked by the critics among the best of contemporary American painters. He has drawn only the back of the new currency, which in this respect is uniform throughout the denominations and classes. In other words, all of the new notes—United States notes, coin certificates and national bank notes of all denominations—will look the same when viewed from the rear.

Looking at them in front is, of course, a different proposition. Even to a hermit there is a very perceptible difference between a one dollar note and one bearing the magic, awe-inspiring figures, $10,000.

In a very important respect, one that has given the jokesmiths a prolific source of mirth and has brought to their pockets much currency, short and long, the new currency will differ from the old—that is, in being shorter. In correspondence, as the aforesaid jokesmiths have it, with its shortened purchasing power, the new currency will be only two-thirds the size of that now in circulation. Its dimensions being 6 by 2½ inches. The old bills are 7½ by 3½ inches. Not many complaints have been made of its length, but the government decided not long ago that the average man's "roll" was too bulky.

If any American desires to inspect the work of Kenyon Cox before deciding finally to acquire any of the new currency he can satisfy himself about its artistic qualities by visiting any one of several public buildings which have been decorated by the new money's designer. The buildings are situated in various parts of the United States.

Although comparatively young, having been born in 1858, Mr. Cox, who is an Ohio man by birth, has been ranked among America's famous artists for more than twenty years. Writing about him in 1881 in the Book Buyer, William A. Coffin, the well known collector and critic, said:

"Kenyon Cox, in whatever field of art we find him, always impresses us as being in earnest. There is never any diphany or false cleverness about his work. The character of the man is reflected in it. He is serious, determined, logical and a persistent worker. His drawing of the figure is generally marked by simplicity, and he has a decided feeling for style. In his painting he is more distinguished as a draftsman than as a colorist, but in the latter quality he is by no means deficient."

Mr. Cox studied art abroad. His wife was the pupil of Mr. Cox before their marriage.

SLEIGH TURNED TURTLE

Occupants Had Narrow Escape From Injury

Two women and a man whose names could not be learned, narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday, when the sleigh they were riding in was overturned at the corner of Merrimack and Decatur streets. The horse made an attempt to run away, but fortunately was stopped from doing so by Eugene Cantin, the real estate man, who happened to be on the spot in the nick of time.

The sleigh containing two women and a man, the latter driving, was going up Merrimack street toward Park street. When the horse reached the corner of Decatur street the driver pulled on the rein steering the animal into the narrow street, but at that moment a wagon was emerging from the said street. In order to avoid a collision the man drove his horse up against the curb stone and the sleigh was overturned, the occupants being thrown to the ground with force.

Eugene Cantin jumped at the horses' head just as the animal was making a wild dash, and managed to hold it. He later went to the women's assistance and found that they were fortunate enough to escape with but a few scratches. There was no damage caused. If the street had been a little wider or a one way street, this accident would not have happened.

Income Tax Amendment
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—State department records have failed to show officially that enough states have acted favorably upon the income tax amendment to insure its ratification, because the officials of several states that have recently acted have failed to send in their certificates. The department today telegraphed to the governor of New Mexico that it could not recognize the telegraphic announcement of the ratification of the amendment and called for his formal certificate.

The department has taken notice of the fact that some state legislatures which were expected to act on the amendment during their present sessions have abandoned that purpose because "as states had already acted favorably, but the department is hopeful that all of the states will record themselves in order to insure a safe margin for the amendment in case of irregularities."

ANOTHER GAMBLER "SQUEALS"

Erstwhile N. Y. Gambling House Proprietor Volunteers to Give Evidence of Graft

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Another gambler has come to the aid of the district attorney, it was announced today, to continue the disclosures of police graft begun with the murder of Herman Rosenthal last summer. He is James Purcell, erstwhile gambling house proprietor, and through him Assistant District Attorney Moss expects to unfold a story of many thousands of dollars paid over a long period for police protection.

Purcell, according to Mr. Moss was ready to corroborate in many details Jack Rose's story of graft told in the Becker trial, but was not called as a witness because Justice Goff ruled that the matter of graft was not then at issue. Mr. Moss said Purcell paid thousands of dollars for police protection for his gambling house and was prepared to give the names of men to whom he made his payments, dates on which they were made and many other details.

Police Commissioner Waldo said today that notwithstanding the refusal of Dist. Atty. Whitman to permit Police Captain Walsh to disclose his confession to the police the investigation by the police of his story would continue without interruption. It was more important, Mr. Waldo said, immediately to get the grafters off the police force, if there were grafters there, than to await the result of their trial in the courts.

Inspector Sweeney, suspended as a result of Walsh's confession, has made no statement.

"Win" Rollins Returns Home

"Win" Rollins, the well known Elk, who has just returned from a trip to Norfolk, Va. entertained a party of friends last evening with a genuine Southern oyster roast. The oysters were sent here direct from Norfolk, in the shell and some of them were a revelation to Lowellians on account of their size and taste. They were served red hot in the shell with drawn butter dressing and not a word was spoken by the guests from the time they appeared on the table until a whole barrel of them had been consumed. It was the unanimous opinion of the party that never before had they tasted such delicious bivalves.

Paul McOsker Writes From Stauffer, Cal.

FORMER LOWELL BOY IS MAKING GOOD IN WEST

He is the Son of Registrar Hugh McOsker—Graduated from Institute of Technology—Writes Interestingly

Mr. Paul McOsker, son of Registrar Hugh McOsker, who after completing his course at Technology in mining engineering left Lowell about a year ago for the far west writes a most interesting letter to a friend concerning his experiences. His letter reads in part as follows:

"Since writing to you last we have moved and are now at Stauffer, Ventura Co., Cal. We have some borate claims here, and as the owner of a claim must do a certain amount of work on it each year, we fixed things up in pretty good shape at Jerseydale and came up here about two months ago. This place is about 5000 feet above sea level and is far different from the sunny California that you read about. The nights are the coldest I have ever struck, and once in a while it stops snowing. Stauffer consists of a post office and a borate mine. It is 70 miles from the nearest railroad point and is absolutely the most desolate place I ever bumped into. Since leaving your beautiful city, (which I never fully appreciated until lately,) and coming west this time I have been going from bad to worse in my selection of residences. I thought Arizona was bad as the temperature there is inclined to be high, and I might state right here that the man who referred to Arizona as the 'restful of hell' knew whereof he spoke. Moving from Globe, Ari., to Jerseydale, Cal. was like going from Lowell to Wigginsville, only more so. Globe had a couple of 'shifting picture' shows and frequently a cow-puncher well set up with Arizona whiskey which is a combination of gasoline and barbed wire, shot up the town and by the guests in a few citizens, but you could witness none of those delightful incidents at Jerseydale. However, you must hand it to Stauffer as the limit in point of dullness. At Jerseydale there was at least something to look at. Considerable of the Yosemite Valley scenery got slipped over the edges of the National Park boundary and spread around Jerseydale making the country thereabouts mighty easy to look at. We could see one or two of our neighbors on an average of once in two or three weeks which made things quite sociable.

Up to this place there isn't even scenery and we don't see any neighbors because there are none. All there is to this place is sagebrush, densely populated with jack-rabbits and deer. There are also quite a few deer in the hills, and the other day while surveying a claim a few miles away I ran across the tracks of two good sized bears. A great yearning for Lowell, Mass., came over me and I did no more surveying that day but beat it for our tent on a straight line through the brush.

For the past three days we have been snowed in. Our camp is five miles beyond Stauffer and, although the storm is over, it will be three or four days before we can get to the post-office. This business of 'camping out' and 'roughing it' is great to read about in a nice warm house but in reality is far from interesting. I have found by experience that tents leak, and although it looks all right, this one in which I am at present quartered is no exception. On wet days it keeps a fellow busy moving about in an endeavor to find a spot where the water will not drip down the back of his neck, and believe me, camp life loses its charm when you have to wring the water out of the blankets before going to bed. We have run up against that proposition for some time past and we're now getting used to it. Still prospects are looking very bright and one must put up with hardship while pursuing the coin of the realm."

THE LITERACY TEST

The new bill for the restriction of immigration, which has passed through congress, now awaits only the signature of President Taft to become law. One clause of the bill provides that all aliens over 16 years of age must be able to read either their own or the English language before they can be admitted to this country.

Because of this clause it is to be hoped that President Taft will veto the bill. A wave of protest against this unnecessary condition is sweeping over the land. The press is on the whole against the measure. Societies of foreign born peoples are flooding the mail with resolutions of denunciation and Congressman Curley of Boston is to go to Washington personally with a protest signed by 100,000 people.

A man's inability to read should be no argument against his admittance to this country. In years past such a law would have kept men from our shores who afterwards either themselves or through their children, were among the leaders of the land for all that is best among us. The great majority of immigrants must live by the labor of their hands. For them brain is more essential than brawn, character is more necessary than learning. Ability to read is no test of character. On the other hand the most undesirable among immigrants, the men who follow anarchistic or socialist doctrines, may be depended on to pass the literacy test with high honors. It is not from the ranks of the unlettered that men spring who have become a menace to American institutions. The honest, illiterate immigrant does not become the strike agitator, socialist leader, or assassin of presidents.

In distant lands and under tyrannical governments it is difficult for many to receive even the rudiments of learning. Because of no fault of their own men and women in the struggle for existence become hewers of wood and drawers of water. When the opportunity presents itself to come to these shores, as all our fathers did, they bring qualities that are far preferable to ability to read—the desire for liberty and happiness, and the determination to give to their children the opportunities denied to themselves. How unjust then it is that we should forbid them entrance.

The great farming resources of this vast country are as yet undeveloped. In the middle west they are educating the immigrant to leave the cities and settle in the country places. All over the land this could be done and the men who may be debarred because of the literacy test are of the type most desirable for this work. They bring muscular arms, broad shoulders, rugged health, and the desire for a home. By all means let them come in. We'll teach their children to read. It is to be hoped that in this, one of the president's last official acts, he will weigh well the real issues involved, that he will heed the sentiment of the country as a whole and veto this unjust bill.

THE GARMENT WORKERS' STRIKE

The garment workers' strike, begun in New York about a week ago, has spread to Boston and Chicago and promises to become general. It contains all the features that have become associated with such strikes in the public mind such as: sympathetic walk-outs, picket duty, loud voiced organizers, parades and other demonstrations. Now from Rochester, N. Y., comes the news of bloodshed. A crowd of 700 strikers paraded to the workshop of Valentine Sauter and tried to persuade his workers, to the number of 40, to join them. The crowd became violent and stones were thrown with the result that Sauter procured a shotgun and fired from a window, killing a young girl of seventeen, and wounding others.

It is difficult to pass judgment on acts such as this committed by either side during a strike agitation. At such times people are apt to be swayed by passion rather than reason. The feelings of individuals are absorbed in the wild tumult of mobs, and violence is the result, frequently occasioning loss of life. Unscrupulous leaders then taking hold of these incidents, appeal to popular prejudice with the result that is forming judgment the real point is lost sight of. The murder of the unfortunate girl in Rochester, like the murder of the woman in Lawrence during the mill strike, is merely an incident and in no way affects the justice or the injustice of the cause. Eventually it will be found necessary for the sake of public peace, to forbid during strikes many things that now are tolerated. The main procedure should be to secure arbitration and this is not advanced by parades or noisy demonstrations which in the end are injurious to the cause of labor.

INCOME TAX ASSESSMENT

Now that the income tax amendment to the federal constitution has been ratified it is of interest to know how such assessments are conducted in other countries. The bureau of commerce and labor has just issued in its trade reports a brief account of the income tax as levied in Norway. There the system is to be entirely changed. Under the old system the state tax was graded from 2 to 5 per cent. according to conditions, and it is said that taxes were based on very incomplete and in many cases most inaccurate statements, so that many persons, especially those with large incomes, escaped paying their just proportion.

The new tax is 5 per cent. on all incomes. The Norway finance department has distributed to the taxpayers a form which is to be filled out in great detail, sworn to, and used in estimating the amount of tax that each shall pay.

The United States government has not yet announced the detailed regulations under which the tax will be levied or collected, but can be relied upon soon to start upon the work of ascertaining the actual incomes of the wealthy men of the country.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

The commission form of government is growing in Massachusetts. Worcester is contemplating changing over, and in Brockton the plans for such a form of government are nearing completion. There a committee has been formed to draw up a new charter. It has been decided to have a board of five including the mayor. The term of office has been chosen as one year for each member, and it is considered advisable there to abolish the city primaries allowing the name of anyone who secures a petition signed by 100 names to go directly before the people for election. On the matter of a recall it has been decided that 20 per cent. of the voters recorded at the last election shall be sufficient to authorize a special election to recall any member of the board. The lack of the sifting process at the primaries is in our judgment a mistake as there will be so many candidates, that the most unpopular man in the city may secure election.

AS IT SHOULD BE

A precedent was established when, on Tuesday last, over two score leaders representing every branch of union labor on the Boston & Maine railroad, were received in conference by President Mellen and Vice-President Byrne at the South station. The meeting was called to discuss phases of discontent among the employees and after it adjourned President Mellen declared himself very much pleased with the result of the conference. The men were asked to discuss affairs fully and make any suggestions they thought fit. That they did so we have no doubt. It were better for the heads of many corporations that they paid a little more attention to the men who do the work. The remedy for an abuse may frequently be found in the ranks. At any rate it works for good when the toiler feels that the "boss" is interested in him and in personal touch with his endeavors.

President-elect Wilson has announced the selection of his present secretary, Joseph Patrick Tumulty, to continue as his secretary when he becomes president. Mr. Wilson's experience as college professor and president must have given him a rare insight into the character and ability of young men, and it speaks well for the secretary that his services are to be continued in a greater sphere of activity.

Andrew Carnegie, speaking in Washington before the permanent Pan-American committee of which he is a member, suggested that to secure permanent peace between the countries of North and South America, it would be necessary that they be linked by rail. Andrew, it seems, can readily combine his business instinct with his pet hobby. Looks like a boom for Pittsburgh steel.

The republicans are striving vainly to force action in the senate on President Taft's nominations, which are still pending. "It has been demonstrated that the democrats can block all confirmations," says Senator Gallinger, discussing the situation, "and many of us consider it a pure waste of time to make further attempts at confirmation. We are liable to decide to do nothing more."

In the London police court Margaret Morrison, a suffragette who was being tried for assaulting a policeman, drew a hatchet which she had concealed in her clothing and chopped at the railing around the magistrate's desk, shouting "Votes for women!" When it comes to concealing weapons they have a great advantage. A mere man would find it difficult to carry a hatchet unseen in his scanty habiliments.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

When one is looking for something and in a hurry to catch a train, or home, how good it seems to meet one who is willing to lend a helping hand. I experienced this at the state house yesterday. I was looking for a certain legislative document and had but a few minutes to spare. I looked my pocket, perhaps, but felt almost sorry when a young man stepped up to me and asked if he could be of any assistance to me. I told him what I wanted and he got it for me in the twinkling of an eye. He was a Lowell boy, too, though he didn't know me. His name is Benjamin McKinley, son of Robert McKinley, and I hope he will not be offended because of my open expression of appreciation. I understand that the young man is studying law at Boston and that he puts in his spare time in the legislative document division at the state house. Here's hoping that some day he will be a great lawyer.

Two elderly chess fanatics were absorbed in a game. Both were experts and right followers of the rules of the game, written and otherwise. For nearly five hours neither had spoken a word. Backward and forward, moving and counter-moving, the game went on with a few words here and there to other players. Finally one of the old fellows made a fatal break. Quick as a flash his opponent moved his knight to a position and softly murmured, "Check!"

The other player, making no effort to conceal his displeasure, rose from the game. "What's the matter?" demanded his friend. "Going to quit?" "I certainly am. I'll be hanged if I can play chess with a damned old chateaux."

Sir Samuel Smiles saw sweet Sarah Saunders, suddenly. Suddenly, Sir Samuel seemed stoking. Sir Samuel stood stunned. Striding seaward, spurning shingle, Sir Samuel swiftly swam Sarah Saunders. Sir Samuel skillfully supported, swooning Sarah. Swimming shorewards, Sir Samuel successfully succored Sarah. Seemingly somewhat shaky, Sir Samuel sampled some spirits—special Scotch.

Sarah saw Sir Samuel's self-sacrificing spirit. Sir Samuel saw Sarah's weakness. Sir Samuel soon caught up Sarah. Striding slowly, Sarah sighed softly. Sir Samuel seemed speechless. "Say something, Sir Samuel," said Sarah. "Say 'Sam, Sarah,'" said Sir Samuel. "Sam!" "Sarah—Sally," stammered Sir Samuel. "Sweet Sarah—Sweetheart. Sarah solemnly surrendered. (Printer's remark: Please stop this; we are short of space!)—T-B-B.

"The women folks must be growing more accurate in throwing things," observed my old friend, the knickerbocker, seeing that these English suffragettes are now so prevalent in the art that when ever they shy a brick a bobby or an M. P. gets it. Seems to be a rather singular mode of impressing a man with the fact that they believe themselves mentally as competent as their men-folk. But it is an effective way of impressing him, for whatever may be his views on the subject, they have prosecuted their claims so vigorously that they've compelled him to sit up and take notice, whether it has been his pleasure or not.

"Of course we cannot say just how many women would vote if the franchise were extended to them. But where there is no natural tendency to think about and to seriously consider political affairs it follows that but few votes would be dropped into the ballot box. And the mentality of the majority of women has, through the environment of many generations, gradually been so moulded that they have come to be a darn sight more concerned in the life of a bonnet than in the rise and fall of a government. That is, the good looking ones are, and fortunately or unfortunately they are, the number of plain looking sisters. But as far as the English suffragettes are concerned, why should they court those indignities when their purpose may be obtained in an extremely simple manner? The course I refer to has been suggested by the Chicago Tribune. Instead of smashing hats, flinging bricks and scattering seeds, let them throw their long arms around the necks of the sedate M. P.'s in full view of the public; let them peck the blushing cheeks of these distinguished gentlemen with their well-whipped lips, let them embrace the statesmen with all the ardor of modern Cleopatras, and, presto, their cause will be triumphant without further struggle."

THE TRIUMPH OF LIFE
Leaves have their glad recall,
And blossoms open to the south
wind's breath,
And stars that set shall rise again, for
All things shall triumph o'er the Spouter—Death.

Day was not made for care—
Eve brings bright angels to the joyous heart—
Night comes with dreams of peace, and visions fair
Of those whom Death could conquer
not on earth.

When, in the festive hour,
Death mingles poison with the ruby
wine,
Life also comes with overwhelming
power,
Chancellor, the deadly draught to life
divine.

Youth and the opening rose
May vanish from the outward sight
away, But life their inward beauty shall discern,
And reave the haughty spoiler of his prey.

Leaves have their glad recall,
And blossoms open to the south
wind's breath,
And stars that set shall rise again, for
All things shall triumph o'er the Spouter—Death.

We know that yet again
Our loved and lost shall cross the
summer sea,
Beating with them the sheaves of golden grain,
Which they have harvested, O Life!
with thee.

The breath is in the gale
Whose kiss enshells the violet's azure
eye;
And though the roses in our path
grow pale,
We know that all things change, they
do not die.
Wherever man may roam,
Thy presence, viewless as the summer
air,
Meets him abroad, or in his peaceful
home,
And when Death calls him forth thou too, art there.
Thou art where soul meets soul,
Or where earth's holiest fall in battle with the strife,
But Death, the spoiler, yields to thy control:
Forever more thou art the conqueror, O Life.

HONORED DEAD BROTHER

Local Owls Pay Tribute to James Reynolds

The Lowell Nest, No. 1255, Order of Owls met last night in their quarters at Elks hall. There was a good attendance, and President J. Walter Bowers, presided. A large amount of regular lodge business was transacted. Several applications for membership were presented and referred to the committees. Vice President MacCallum again had the honor of proposing the greatest number of names, having brought in six candidates, all secured since the last meeting in January.

The annual report of the board of trustees was submitted by Chairman Richard Flynn. The report in detail gave an inventory of the Nest's personal property, also, an account of their stewardship for the year 1912. The entertainment committee through its chairman, J. E. MacCallum, reported everything in readiness for ladies' night, and what which will take place Thursday evening, Feb. 20, in Elks hall.

The business meeting will be held in the upper hall at 7 o'clock. The concert program will be given and refreshments served in the regular lodge hall, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

President Bowers announced to the Nest the death of Worthy Brother James Reynolds, who passed away on Saturday, Feb. 1st.

The president requested the members to stand in silence in respect to the memory of the deceased brother and ordered the charter draped for 30 days. A draft for $100 was ordered to be paid the deceased brother's widow or his estate, and also an order for sick benefit to the time of Bro. Reynolds' death.

Past President Edward M. Bowers spoke feelingly and at some length of Bro. Reynolds' beautiful home life. His was a real Christian home," said Mr. Bowers. "His influence was felt not only within its confines, but was shed abroad and reached a very wide circle, and the fruits of that home life are manifest today in the splendid Christian manhood, and womanhood of his children, the richest heritage that man can transmit. Several others spoke in the highest praise of the departed brother.

There will be a large class initiation at the first meeting of the Nest in March.

DOUBLE WEDDING CLIMAX

Landlady of Manchester Boarding House and Three Boarders Principals in the Ceremony

MANCHESTER, N. H., Feb. 7.—Love in a boarding house led to a double wedding last evening at 144 Middle street, this city. Mrs. W. Emma Chalkor, the landlady, and George Dow of Holderness, N. H., a boarder, were married, as were two other boarders, Miss Mildred Collins and George Pierce of Greenville, E. C. Justice of the Peace Joseph E. Drucker officiated.

Miss Mary Huddy, the cook, was maid of honor for both ceremonies and William G. Carr best man. After a reception, wedding supper and dance both couples left for Boston.

Miss Fortune led me into this and I guess Pierce is in the same boat," said Dow jocularly, but would explain no further.

ALICE AND MAY

I'm sorry I offended you the other day, May, when we were talking about woman suffrage. A friend of yours in the States, since that it was none of my business if the suffragettes hiked, so long as they didn't break any laws. I don't suppose it is any of my business, but any normal person is filled with curiosity when he reads about their antics,—he wonders what they're up to, this time. And then, if you've ever noticed, the hick ladies always take care to have their things put in the papers, so that it looks as though they were trying to make everybody interested in their business, too. But I was going to tell you, May, I read such a queer article on "Love," yesterday. The writer said that marriages today are the cause of the "hysterical woman's movement." I wonder if she meant "hysterical" to go with "woman" or "movement"? It would be all right with either.

What did you say was the name of the article, Alice?

It was "Is Love a Symptom of Degeneration?"—Do you believe in love, May?

Hrm, I guess so. Don't you, Alice? To tell the truth, I don't know anything about it. When I was about sixteen, I thought I was an authority on the subject, but I've got past that stage now. I've often imagined that I was in love, but I always got over it quickly. I thought I had met my affinity this summer, but I saw him in a bathing suit one day, and I decided that it was his white flannel suit I had fallen in love with,—and not him. I don't know what love is, and if I did, I wouldn't give you a definition of it, or I'd be getting into trouble, the same as I did with the suffrage business. But I suppose, if I had been in love with that affinity, I wouldn't have thought about his clothes, but just about himself.

I think fellows fall in love easier than girls,—at least, the Lowell fellows do. Haven't you noticed that, Alice?

Yes,—and not only easier, but more often. That isn't love, though, May. A lot of fellows are naturally mushy, and they think that "any little girl that's a nice little girl," is just the girl for them. They change their minds in a week, or as soon as a nicer little girl comes along.

Women are supposed to be more changeable, but they have nothing on the men in that line. I guess.

What was that article on love you were talking about, Alice?

Oh, just some woman who I suppose was disappointed in love, instead of saying for herself of promise, published some shoddy things about Cupid being the cause of the world's troubles.

I don't believe that, but I guess there will be plenty of people who will agree with her,—girls who eloped when they were 16, crusty old bachelors who never had a girl, and wives whose husbands indulged too freely in the kind of liquor that's being sold in Lowell.

I don't advise you to ever fall in love, May, because that woman says that "love is the trade of the unhealthy-minded." She goes on to say that as a rule, "love is a woman's only business." You can almost see her patting herself on the back because she thinks she is the one exception to that rule.

When people like that fall in love, they always get it bad. Isn't there a song about that,—"You'll fall hardest of all when the right one comes along?"

Did you ever notice, May, that love affects people differently,—something like vaccination? Some people take it awfully easy, others have a pretty bad time before they finally get it, and lots of others can't get it at all, no matter how hard they try.

Weddings ought to be connected with love. And speaking of weddings, Alice, reminded me of that young couple we saw taking the 5:15 train for Boston the other night. I prize my little bride,—she looked as though she were going to cry, when she got on the train, with all the rice and confetti sticking to her clothes.

Their friends thought they were giving them the right kind of a send-off, but if the time ever comes when they're in the same fix and have to face a car full of laughing, snoring people why, they'll realize then that it's really cruel to treat newly married folks that way.

I was mighty glad I wasn't in that bride's place the other night.

She did look confused, Alice, but the groom didn't seem to mind so much. Didn't you hear him ask the crowd, just before he got on the train, if they all had enough to drink at his wedding?

But what was more cruel still was a joke played upon a young girl by her friends at the depot. She was leaving on the honeymoon train with her cousin, when all of a sudden her friends began to shower her with rice, confetti and all sorts of things. I saw her shoes but they may have been there. What do you think of a false alarm like that? Horrible, horrible!

GOOD BYE TO WILSON

Princeton Residents Plan

Great Send Off

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 7.—Residents of this town, students, members of the faculty, neighbors and townsfolk generally, will say good-bye to Woodrow Wilson on the eve of Saturday, March 1 two days before he departs for Washington to assume the presidency.

Plans for a big farewell demonstration to the president-elect, who has lived here for more than 27 years, were announced today by Joseph Hoff, a member of the democratic state committee, and an intimate friend of the governor.

"We want to show Governor Wilson that while we regret to lose him as a neighbor," said Hoff, "we are glad that a resident of this town should be going to the White House."

The farewell probably will take the form of a reception at the Wilson bungalow. Citizens of the town will cooperate with the students in making the celebration one of great enthusiasm. A big parade will start from the center of the town and march down Cleveland street to the Wilson home. The students, who have just organized a brass band to lead them in the inaugural parade, expect to give the band its first tryout on that occasion.

The students also are busy with plans for escorting the governor to Washington by special train on March 3. They will travel in a long string of coaches and have engaged for the president-elect and his family the same private car from which the governor made most of his campaign speeches.

ICE BREAKS UNDER SKATERS

Two Harvard Students Had Thrilling Experience—One Could Not Swim—Rescued With Great Difficulty

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—Two Harvard men, a student and a graduate, were near death from drowning yesterday when they plunged through the ice on the Charles river, near Arsenal bridge, Allston. Their names are withheld by the Metropolitan police.

One of the pair could not swim, and when they were splashed into the icy water it was with difficulty that the one who could swim rescued his companion. The water is about 25 feet deep and the rescue took several minutes. The skater was rescued finally, and the two young men went to the speedway division of the Metropolitan Police association.

Their icy clothes were removed, the rescuer revived, and a telephone call for more clothes sent to friends. When the clothes arrived the young men went back to Cambridge.

THE MILITANT METHODS

Suffragettes in Sympathy With Sisters

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Shivers of apprehension ran up and down the spines of government officers today when it was learned that the American suffragettes, whose national headquarters are here, do not look with great disfavor upon the militant methods employed by their sisters in England against the officials of the crown and the members of parliament.

Mrs. Clara Colby, one of the prominent suffragettes, told a crowded meeting of the Federated Women's club last night that the window smashing, police fighting English suffragettes had made possible the advancement of the cause of the United States.

"The English women have been driven to their militant methods and we should not blame them," said Mrs. Colby. "They always stop at the actual talking of life and while I believe in peace and would not advocate the militant methods for the United States we must realize that the work done in England has had effect in America."

The annual session of the Berkshires congress was held in connection with the national corn show and Mr. Dodge says it was undoubtedly the best corn show ever seen in the United States. "It was a most magnificent show," he said, "and one worth going hundreds of miles to see. There was corn from every state in the union and in such quantities as to make one wonder where it came from."

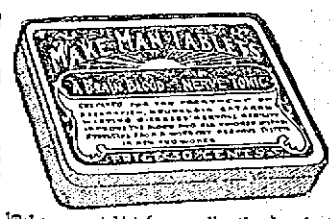

The show was held in a mammoth pavilion on the fair grounds. It continued for three days and the average attendance was about 10,000 a day. All of the agricultural interests throughout the country were represented and there were speakers present, not only from all over the United States, but from Canada and Europe. It was a great big affair and very successful.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER'S REPORT

$25'657.60, Including Interest, Paid Commonwealth During Year—Other Notes

As required by law the county commissioners have submitted their report upon the affairs of the county for the year ending Dec. 31, 1912, which is in part as follows:

During the year the sum of $25,657.60, including interest, has been paid the commonwealth, the same being one quarter of the expense involved by the construction of state highways within the county during 1911.

By the terms of the act requiring payment, one quarter of any money expended in any county for a state highway, with interest of three per cent per annum, shall be repaid by the commonwealth in such reasonable sums within six years thereafter as the state highway commission, upon the approval of the state auditor shall determine, taking into consideration the financial condition of the county. The whole sum due from the commonwealth on account of work performed from 1904 to 1911 inclusive, has been paid. The sum due on account of work done in 1912, viz., $25,657.60, with interest at the rate of 3 per cent, will be paid the coming year.

The total amount of receipts during 1912 was $1,317,094.42, while the expenditures were the same.

As set forth in last year's report, the commissioners had proceeded as required by chapter 531 of the acts of 1910, to construct the River road, so-called, in Draught, between Varnum's Landing and the Methuen line and expended therefrom from the county treasury a sum in excess of $14,000. Of this sum 35 per cent was to be paid by the city of Lowell under the terms of the act and fifteen per cent by the town of Draught. The town has paid for its share, amounting to $21,821.19. The amount due from the city of Lowell, $48,991.57, was paid late in the year.

During the five years beginning in 1912, the state highway commission, by 2 legislative acts of 1912, is authorized to expend $5,000,000 in the improvement of roads. This is at twice the rate of years, and the county's contribution towards this expense, or 25 per cent, of the amount expended by the state, will probably be double that of about $600,000 per year, instead of about $300,000 per year towards the cost of state highways.

The county purchasing the materials for painting and employing local labor for the work. The expense of one coat of paint, including the labor and incidentals for the entire bridge, was $24,451.

Tyngsboro bridge maintained by the county by reason of a legislative act of 1882, extends across the Boston and Maine railroad and the Merrimack river, a distance of 600 feet. It has a roadway of a width of 15 feet.

Tewksbury

Amherst street was relocated in 1910 near its junction with Fiske street at North Tewksbury. The work was completed in the year 1911 and early in 1912 the county's share of the expense, namely $440.00 was paid to the town. The expense of this work to the town is not known accurately but it was in excess of $300,000, the land damaged as awarded by the commissioners amounting to $2500.00.

Billerica

This was the petition for the alteration of Pollard street, where it crosses the Concord river at the Fordway bridge, North Billerica. The petition was filed in October, 1911, and after a series of hearings the commissioners issued a final return in June, 1912. A new bridge was ordered, built across the Concord river within the location of the highway as established by the commissioners in 1895. The bridge is to have a length of 231 feet and 16 inches and a width of 45 feet and 16 inches. It is to consist of reinforced concrete supported on abutments and five piers. On one side of the bridge there is a space for a double track street railway and the roadway is about 21 feet in width with a sidewalk on the southerly side six feet in width. The approaches are to be graded to conform to the new bridge and the surface of the roadway including the space occupied by the street railway tracks is to be macadamized. The work was ordered to be completed before Dec. 1, 1912. The estimated cost of the structure is about $25,000, of which sum the county is to pay $1100, the remaining share of the expense to be paid by the town and street railway company in accordance with an agreement between them. The work has proceeded during the summer and fall months and is nearly completed. The bridge will be a fine structure.

Draught

This is the petition for specific repairs of Bridge street from the Lowell-Draught boundary line to the southerly terminus of the macadamized road built by the county in 1909. After the necessary hearings the street was ordered repaved to the full width between curb lines, with a macadam surface. Vitrified clay pipe is to be laid for drainage with catch basins and pipes leading thereto. The work was ordered completed before November 1, 1912, the date of the return being May 15, 1912. Owing to the large amount of highway work which the town was obliged to do the past season, and the financial burdens which this work compelled, the repairs ordered on Bridge street have not been completed.

This petition asks for specific repairs on the Mammoth road and return was duly made in July, 1911, ordering a new road-bed from the Lowell line to the New Hampshire state line, a distance of nearly three miles. The town appropriated $10,000 towards this work, and during the past season about 5500 feet of new road bed has been constructed in a thorough manner. Of this amount the county reimbursed the town the sum of $3233.33.

JACK ROSE, "PROMOTER"

None of the 20 Persons to Whom He Says He Owes $12,000 Opposes His Bankruptcy Petition

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Jack Rose, the police informer whose testimony played so important a part in the conviction of Charles Becker, formerly police lieutenant, and the four gangsters for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, yesterday appeared before a referee in Long Island City for examination in his bankruptcy petition, in which he declared that he is without funds and owes more than $12,000. The 20 claims against him, Rose said, were for money borrowed, clothing and jewelry and for medical services.

When none of the creditors appeared the referee authorized Rose's attorney to ask the court to declare him a bankrupt. The hearing on this petition probably will be held today.

Rose gave his address as Long Island City and his present business that of a promoter.

PARDON IS UP TO SWIFT

Question of the Legality of Conditions

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—The governor's council will ask Attorney-General Swift today for an opinion on the question of whether or not it can impose conditions upon the pardon of Cardenio F. King.

It is the opinion of Lieutenant-Governor David I. Walsh that the imprisoned felon should be released only on the condition that he will at no time engage in business.

Practically Parole

What the council now proposes to do, with the consent of the governor already assured, is to grant King a pardon which practically amounts to a parole, with all the conditions imposed by the prison commission and some additional restrictions.

The question has arisen as to whether or not the council may impose and carry out any restrictions that it may place upon the liberty of King. It is for the purpose of determining just what the power of the council is in the matter that the attorney-general will be consulted.

It is held by the lieutenant-governor that the prison commission has the authority to carry out the additional restrictions that may be placed upon the pardon by the council.

It is very improbable that a full pardon will be granted. King himself, error David I. Walsh that the imprisoned felon should be released only on the condition that he will at no time engage in business.

Engineman Escapes With Bruises When Switch Locomotive Is "Sid-swiped" in Gardner

GARDNER, Feb. 7.—A Boston & Maine train, known as Fitchburg local 243, sideswiped the Gardner switch locomotive as it was backing off the Derby side track, west of Bull Run crossing, at 10:45 yesterday morning.

Robert H. Cutting, engineman on the switcher, when he saw the freight locomotive approaching, applied the air brakes and jumped down a steep embankment. He escaped with a severe bruise of his right knee. His fireman escaped without injury, as did the crew in the freight locomotive.

Both locomotives were damaged somewhat and traffic was blocked on North Main and Mechanic streets for nearly an hour. The switch locomotive was knocked off the track.

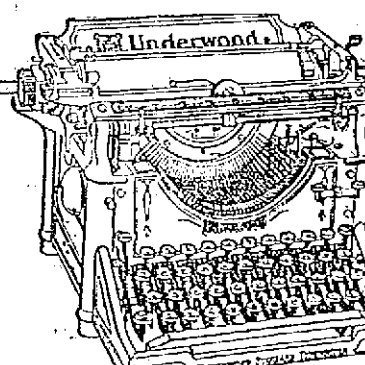

The accident, it is said, was due to a misunderstanding on the part of the crew of the freight train, as the switcher was protected and was backing out a string of freight cars onto the main line when the accident happened.

Death Not at Hand

It was called to the attention of the council, however, that there is no immediate danger of King's death. He may live for some years. Although the hernia from which he is suffering is incurable, and eventually may result in death, it is possible for him to walk two or three miles and to engage in business if released.

It is this condition which makes it impossible to grant a full pardon, according to Lieutenant-Governor Walsh. Mr. Walsh points out that should King be permitted a pardon without restrictions the same criticism might be made as in the case of Charles W. Morse.

The lieutenant-governor said last night that, strictly speaking, the council had no right to consider any plan of pardon except that asked by Governor Foss, since the question of whether or not the prisoner should be finally pardoned rested with Mr. Foss.

Walsh Against all Pardons

"As a matter of fact, I do not believe that there are any circumstances under which a full pardon should be granted," said Lieutenant-Governor Walsh. "When a man is sent to prison the courts have sentenced him after a full and just consideration of the merits of the case. Should the council pardon the man, it should only be done with restrictions, which would make the pardon in effect a parole. I believe that there should be legislation to this effect."

Under the terms of the parole law a man cannot be released unless he has served two-thirds of his term. That the council, however, may issue a conditional pardon or a parole and that under the law the prison commission may carry out its terms is the present contention. A large number of protests are being received daily against the pardon.

ECZEMA BROKE OUT IN PIMPLES

On Arms, then Back and Legs. Itched Very Much. Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Son in Terrible Shape with Eczema. Now Face and Body Good as Ever.

42 Sidney St., Cambridge, Mass.—"Last September I began to feel itching. I would scratch myself and I could not sleep half the night. The eczema broke out in pimples. It first came on my arms and then my back and my legs. My body and legs were a sight. Water came from the pimples. It itched very much more at night than in the daytime and I would scratch them so much that I would make them bleed, trying to get relief. I got two bottles of Cuticura and also some ointment which did more good. After I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment I got relief that very night and could sleep. It took about six or seven weeks to cure me. My son aged ten years was in terrible shape with eczema. He had it all over his body and also on his face. He was so bad we had to keep him home from school for two weeks. His scratching disfigured his face. There were large sores from his scratching all night on his body and on his face. My wife used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment three times a day. The sores on his face were the worst ones. The eczema on his back and legs was as large as a quarter of a dollar. In seven or eight days the red spots faded away and his face and body are as good as ever, not a scar, no disfigurement whatsoever." (Signed) Geo. R. Rogers, Sept. 22, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c and Cuticura Ointment 50c are sold everywhere. Liberal samples of each mailed free with 25c. Get a box. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

47 Mrs. Whitcomb and daughter with Cuticura Soap will send 100 letters and cards.

BURGLAR FOUND DEAD
Believed That Prisoner
Took Own Life

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Feb. 7.—The body of Herbert Hepsold, known as the "perfumed burglar," who escaped from San Quentin penitentiary Jan. 14 while the state board of prison directors, executive session, was considering the question of his parole, was found yesterday on a march two miles from the prison. It is believed he committed suicide.

Hepsold, who was the son of a Sacramento wine merchant whose estate awaited him when the prison doors opened, was sent to San Quentin to serve a 15-year term after he had barred the police of California cities for many months in the role of "society burglar." His work was recognizable for its dash and excitement and by the color of a certain perfume.

Hepsold made his escape by throwing the entire penitentiary into darkness while he had access to the electric switch as a trusty.

Warden Hoyle of San Quentin explained last night for the first time why the rich young convict had broken from prison on the eve of his expected parole. He believed that Hepsold, listening at a keyhole, learned that he was about to lose his credits because of the discovery of an infraction of the rules.

NEWSPAPER CURIOSITY
One of the first copies of the Boston Transcript owned by a Lowell Valuator.

A friend of The Sun today sent in a genuine copy of the first edition of the Boston Transcript ever printed, and the little news sheet is certainly a rare piece of the early annals of Boston.
The date on the copy is mentioned is Saturday, July 21, 1830, showing its age to be 82 years and the result of a comparison with the Transcript as we know it today only brings to light a marvel of newspaper progress.

The whole paper as we have it is not as large as one of the present Sun and it is all contained on one sheet of paper, folded to make four pages.
The opening paragraph of its editorial column is as follows:

"This paper will be published daily in the evening, with the hope of surpassing a deficiency created by the suspension of the Herald. We bring to our work, a poor talent, which we shall make subservient to our industry. We shall not mingle in the evening warfare of politics, nor attempt to control public bias, in abstract questions of religion or morality; our predictions are so firmly established that we can never believe them susceptible of much change or modification; but whilst we preserve the right of expressing our own opinions, we shall combat with the prejudices of others."

In this first copy of the Transcript
there is little that might be properly grouped under the head of "news" and

TIN PLATE EXPORTS Big Increase Shown in That Line for the Past Year, the Total Amount Being Over $4,000,000

Tin plate exports in 1912 amounted to 153 million pounds valued at 1-1/2 million dollars, against a half million pounds valued at 25 thousand dollars in 1905. Imports of tin plate in 1912 were 4-1/2 million pounds valued at a quarter million dollars against 1-1/2 million pounds valued at 1-1/2 million dollars in 1905, and 735 million pounds valued at 1-1/2 million dollars in 1906.
Meanwhile the manufacture of tin plate has grown from approximately 5 million pounds in 1901, the earliest year for which statistics of production are available, to 153 million pounds in 1912, the latest year for which data are at hand.

The change in the inward and outward movements of tin plate into and out of the United States in recent years has been, in imports, a gradual decline since about the year 1906, but sharply accentuated in 1911 and 1912, while in exports there has been a gradual increase since 1900 and especially marked in 1911 and 1912. The ratio of tin plate averaged from 1900 to 1912 million pounds per annum in the period from 1855 to 1895, then gradually declined to less than 200 million pounds by the year 1900, being in that year 155 million pounds; in 1905, 147 million; and in 1912, 153 million.

In 1911, however, the quantity imported fell to 11-1/2 million pounds and in 1912 it was above indicated but 4-1/2 million pounds. This marked reduction in the calendar years 1911 and 1912 was due to the fact that certain manufacturers who were still importing the plate for use in the manufacture of cans and other articles for exportation, and thus obtaining a drawback of the duties paid thereon, substituted American tin plate for a large proportion of that imported. As a result, the quantity of tin plate imported in 1911 was but 31-1/2 million pounds and in 1912 1-1/2 million, against 119 million pounds in 1910 and 140 million in 1909.

The growth in exports is also sharply accentuated for the years 1911 and 1912, the total exportation of domestic tin plate in 1912 having been 137-1/2 million pounds and, in 1911, 133 million, against 28 million pounds in 1910, 28-1/2 million in 1909, 27 million in 1908, 17-1/2 million in 1907, 3-1/2 million in 1906, and a little less than 1 million pounds in 1905. The distribution of this comparatively new article in our export trade is steadily broadening. Formerly Canada and Mexico were the principal customers for the plate exported from the United States. Now it goes to approximately 40 different countries, the exact number of countries to which it was exported in the fiscal year 1912 being 38, and in addition to this considerable quantities went to Hawaii, not classed as a foreign country in the statistical records of the department of commerce and labor. Of the 182 million pounds exported the fiscal year 1912, 81-1/2 million went to Canada, 5-1/2 million to Mexico, 5-1/2 million to India, 10-1/2 million to Hongkong, 5-1/2 million to Japan, 2-1/2 million to Argentina, 2-1/2 million to Brazil, 1-1/2 million to Mexico, 3-1/2 million to Cuba, 3 million to Chile, 2-1/2 million to the Straits Settlements, and 1-1/2 million to Hawaii. The smaller quantities went to England, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Portugal, and Finland. In the United States, tin plate is sold in Columbia and Venezuela in South America, and Nicaragua in Central America. British, French and Turkish territories in Asia, Australia and the Philippines, and islands in Oceania, and British South Africa.

Madame Schumann-Heink who ap-aroused considerable discussion as to the explanation of her great drawing powers. It is a certain fact that no artist draws the great audiences that she does, and the explanation is that she has a great many attributes her drawing power to her wonderful personality, others to her voice alone, and there are countless other explanations. The fact remains for Mme. Schumann-Heink to explain it and she did so most successfully in a recent interview. She said: "I am a woman of a certain type.

I like best to sing, not the song the public craves most to hear. That is unfortunate because an audience has much to do with how well the artist is received. I wish every audience could get that idea into its collective head.
The ideal condition is realized when the current of sympathy between the singers and singers is established through a song that the one loves to hear as the other loves to sing."

INQUISITORS VISIT ROCKEFELLER

Government Money Trust Committee Interviews Financier in Brunswick, Georgia

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Feb. 7.—The government money trust inquirers came here today to attempt to wrest from William Rockefeller, 73 years old, palsied and almost senseless, the secrets of his financial career as the active agent of the so-called Standard Oil group of bankers.

Rep. Arsene Pujo, chairman of the house money trust committee and Samuel Untermyer, the committee's lawyer with a retinue of clerks, came with the direct authority of the investigating committee to examine Mr. Rockefeller in his retired, feckly island.

After evading subpoenas for six months the Standard Oil magnate agreed to present himself for examination as his physician and lawyer would allow.

His lawyer, John P. Garber of New York, who came south yesterday was on hand to guard the financier's interests.

Mr. Pujo and Mr. Untermyer agreed that the examination of Mr. Rockefeller in his apartments overlooking the sea would be brief and to the point.

Two incidents in the financial career of Mr. Rockefeller were the reasons for the long chase that ended in today's visit. Mr. Untermyer wanted to get into the record the history of the so-called frenzied finance organization of the Amalgamated Copper Co. in 1901 and the romance of the transaction in Amalgamated stock in 1906 and 1907, when the securities after a dizzy climb to about 120 points dropped to 42.

William Rockefeller, with H. H. Rogers and Marcus Daley, both now dead, and Thos. W. Lawson, who has organized the Amalgamated company according to testimony already before the committee, acquiring the stock of Boston & Montana, Butte & Boston and other copper producing companies which were later sold to the new concern at a big increase in price. Mr. Untermyer wanted the details of this deal from the Standard Oil man himself.

Other testimony before the committee showed that in 1903 the United Metals Selling Co., controlled by Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Rogers, and which handled for the producers about 60 per cent. of the country's copper output, held back the bulk of the product from sale, maintaining the price of the metal at 25 cents a pound.

Meantime on the stock exchange dealings in Amalgamated were active at high prices. In October the metal was released, the price dropped to 19 cents and Amalgamated declined to 42.

The relation between the "corner" of the United Metals Selling Co. and the vigorous campaign in Amalgamated to the stock market was what Mr. Untermyer wanted to get from Rockefeller.

At a conference on Jekyll Island this morning, between Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Garber it was decided that the press representatives to attend the hearing on the island this afternoon,

BACK FROM WASHINGTON City Clerk Flynn Went
There as Witness

About a week ago City Clerk Flynn received a summons, signed by the president of the United States, to go to Washington and to take with him a record of the birth of Grace Dean, who is now pursuing her seventeenth birthday. No further instructions were contained in the summons.

Mr. Flynn has returned from Washington and, in reply to questions asked him by reporters this morning, stated that the evidence he was instructed to take to Washington had to do with a case on trial in the superior criminal court in Washington.

A young man by the name of Largent was the largest hardware dealer in Washington, was charged with felonious assault and the complainant was Grace Dean. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dean, lived in this city years ago and Grace was born here. Mr. Dean is an Indian war veteran and lives in the soldiers' home, District of Columbia.

Mr. Flynn was in attendance at the trial, which was held in a little old court and was a very old building, but was called on a witness. The first record was admitted without objection and the defendant pleaded guilty. The case had not been disposed of when Mr. Flynn left Washington.

BEACH WAS FOUND NOT GUILTY

New York Millionaire Acquitted on Charge of Assaulting His Wife

AIKEN, S. C., Feb. 7.—The Beach jury returned a verdict of not guilty after being out one hour and 45 minutes.

Jury Took Case at 1:15 O'Clock
AIKEN, S. C., Feb. 7.—When court convened today in the case of Frederick O. Beach, the wealthy New Yorker, charged with attacking his wife, indications were that the case would reach the jury in a few hours. Judge Spahn said that two hours would be given the defense and one hour for the prosecution for summing up. Solicitor General Leach then summed up for the state. Introduction of testimony was concluded before court adjourned last night.
The society colony of Aiken turned out in force to attend what was expected to be the last day of the trial. Mrs. Beach, attired in brown, sat beside her husband.
Congressman Byrnes addressed the jury for the defense. He contended that the prosecution had failed to produce any evidence to connect Beach with the assault. As he spoke, Mrs. Beach appeared weary for the first time during the trial. Resting her chin upon a gloved hand she gazed at the lawyer (Times) tired eyes.
Mr. Byrnes spoke for half an hour and then yielded the remainder of the time to the judge and to W. O. Davis for the defense.
Col. Henderson closed for the defense. "What motive did E. R. Beach have for cutting his wife?" asked Col. Henderson, addressing the jury.
"Not only has the prosecution failed to prove that Beach committed the assault but it was unable to show any reason for his doing so. He did not do it and the one who was assaulted has told you that he did not do it. Would you convict a yellow dog on the evidence that has been offered against Beach here?"
Col. Henderson concluded shortly before noon and after a short recess prosecutor Gunther began his closing argument.
The prosecutor attacked the story told by Mrs. Beach, terming it a "mere fabrication, no more, no less." He said it was absurd for her to claim that the alleged negro assailant had forced her to the ground with his two hands and afterward hit her on the head with a stick she said he was carrying when he entered the yard.
"Mrs. Beach never told how she got around the corner of the house where her car-rings and combs were found," declared the prosecutor. "She claims to have been forced to her knees on the front walk. Then again, Mrs. Beach says she did not scream until after the negro had cut her. Don't you know that she screamed and kept screaming the minute her assailant, who ever it was, touched her? All that story was made up by Beach and afterward corroborated by Mrs. Beach for his protection."
The case went to the jury at 1:15.

TO BOMBARD CONSTANTINOPLE

Ultimate Object of the Allies—Bulgarians and Rumanians Confer Today

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Reports from the front indicate that the Bulgarians are bending every effort to prepare the way for the Greek fleet to go through the Dardanelles, meet the Turkish warships in the Sea of Marmora, and then to proceed to the bombardment of Constantinople, which is the ultimate object of the allies.
Despatches indicate that in the fight yesterday in Gallipoli peninsula the Turks were driven off.

Long Step in Advance
If this is the case the Bulgarians have made a long step in their advance, but they will still have to negotiate the modern and well defended works at Bulair and across the neck of the peninsula, which ought to offer stubborn resistance.
The fact that the Bulgarians appear to be moving their positions westward along the Thracian lines seems to show that they realize there is a possibility of an attempt to outflank them, but so far there is no confirmation of the rumor that the Turks are moving troops by sea to the neighborhood of Rodosto and Midia.

The ministers of the powers in Sofia yesterday communicated to Premier Guechoff the request of the consuls at Adrianople for permission for foreigners to leave the town, or for the establishment of a neutral zone for their protection.
Premier Guechoff declined to accede to the request. He said in explanation that there was no precedent for foreigners leaving a besieged place under similar circumstances and there were weighty reasons why Bulgarian headquarters could not grant such permission.
Nor could a neutral zone be established, as no guarantee could be given that shells would not accidentally fall within the zone, and consequently great difficulties would be created for the troops engaged in the operations.
The main body of the Turkish troops has retired behind the main line of defense at Gallipoli, according to a despatch to the Daily Telegraph.

A Constantinople despatch says that the Bulgarians attacked the Turkish forts, but were compelled to retire to their old positions. The Turkish cruiser Mesoudieh, with two torpedo boats has sailed for the Black Sea, apparently to cover the landing near Midia of troops for Trebizond.

The Frontier Question
BUCHAREST, Rumania, Feb. 7.—The Rumanian government has instructed its minister to Bulgaria to approach the Bulgarian government with a view to arranging the resumption of the negotiations between the two countries in regard to the frontier question and the settlement of Rumania's territorial claims. The Rumanian claim is for a strip of territory which will extend her coast line on the Black sea.

BURNED TO DEATH

Parents at Work, While Child Was Horribly Burned About Face, Arms and Body

A little seven year old girl whose name is Josephine Borenski was fatally burned this morning at a house on Middlesex street about 10.30. She died at St. John's hospital at 3.20.

The story of this frightful accident as near as it could be learned by a Sun reporter, is as follows: The father and mother of the victim are both employed in a local mill and on going to their work this morning, left their little girl in the care of another woman who has three children of her own, and who lives in a house in Middlesex street across from the drug store of Nathan Peike. This morning the woman went out to make some purchases at a store and left the children alone in the house, with a fire burning in the stove. During her absence, one of her own children seized a piece of paper in his play and lighted it from the stove. The flames somehow or other caught on the hair of the little Borenski girl who was nearby and soon her clothing and hair were completely ablaze. Her cries and those of the other child attracted the neighbors who ran to her aid but before the flames were extinguished she had been horribly burned about the face, arms and body. A hurry call was sent in for the ambulance which was soon upon the scene and conveyed the victim to St. John's hospital, where she died this afternoon.

WANTS MR. DOOLEY'S JOB

Flood of Letters From Western Candidate

Members of the school committee are learning something of the modus operandi of the westerner who goes after a job. They have learned by experience that when a man from the wild and woolly west gets his eye on a job he leaves no stone unturned to get there.

One, W. C. Smith, a western man but residing for the time being in Melrose, is a candidate for the position of principal of the Lowell Industrial school to succeed William H. Dooley, who goes to Fall River in March.

Since the man from the west showed upon the horizon the committee members and the superintendent of schools as well have been flooded with letters and telegrams concerning his candidacy. The letters and telegrams come from various points and it is very evident that Mr. Smith stands pretty strong with the educators. Mr. Smith has paid at least one visit to Lowell.

Among those who have sent letters and telegrams in favor of Mr. Smith's candidacy for the position are the following: Frank P. Speare, director of education, Boston V. M. C. A.; Meyer Bloomfield of the vocational bureau, Boston; Edwin O. Graver, president of the Prang Co., promoters of art, industry and education, and others.

Mr. Smith says he has had considerable experience as a teacher. He is a former superintendent of schools of Eastern Chicago and was at one time general director of the National Trade school of Indiana.

Other candidates for the position made vacant by Mr. Dooley's resignation, include William A. Webb, teacher at the Industrial school; Thomas P. Fisher, teacher at the high school, and Mr. O'Leary of the New Bedford Industrial school. The two latter have strong recommendations among the local educators.

Apple Sales Large

There is a huge accumulation of apples in storage houses here and the women of the Clean Food club arranged for bargain sales in various parts of the city.

SEN. PAYNTER IN STRONG SPEECH

Opposes Bill Prohibiting Shipments of Liquor Into the "Dry" States

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—When a member of this body is charged with the duty of constraining the constitution the question of the effect his decision must have on his personal fortunes should not for a moment be considered. When such a thought enters his mind he should with due haste exclaim: "Get thee behind me, Satan." Senator Paynter of Kentucky thus began a speech in the senate today in opposition to the Kenyon-Sheppard liquor bill which would prohibit shipments of liquor into "dry" states. The bill is to come to a vote in the senate Feb. 10. Senator Paynter said he would like to have the respect of the people urging the passage of the law. "But if one must violate the constitution he has sworn to support and maintain and thus suffer the prostitution and self abasement consequent upon a violation of that oath the price which he pays to obtain the approval is too great," he cried.

TO AUDIT THE CITY'S BOOKS

Order Introduced at Meeting of the Municipal Council This Afternoon

There was a fair gathering at this afternoon's meeting of the municipal council. The meeting was called to order at 3.30 o'clock by Mayor O'Donnell, with all members present.
The Lowell Electric Light Corp. petitioned for permission to erect six poles in Anne street and a hearing was ordered.
Charles H. Glidden petitioned for permission to erect a pole for advertising purposes opposite The Sun building. The same was referred to the proper commission.
A petition from Elsie L. Beharrell et al. for a light in Highland avenue was referred.
A notice for damages was filed by Cook, Taylor & Co. and another from John Durand and the same were referred to the department of claims. The said damages were caused by the burning of a main in Central street on Jan. 23.
A bond for $5000 from the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. for work to be done in Merrimack and Prescott streets, was accepted.
The following order was presented: Ordered, by the municipal council of the city of Lowell, as follows: That, in accordance with section 1 of chapter 593 of the acts of 1910, petition be, and hereby is made by the municipal council of the city of Lowell, to the director of the bureau of statistics, to audit the accounts of said city of Lowell for the municipal year of 1912 (as required by section 35 of chapter 645 of the acts of 1911) and that such changes be made conformable to law in the system of accounting in the treasurer's department and in the auditor's department, as the commissioner of finance shall direct.
Conor Brown moved that it be adopted.

THE CITY LIGHTING BILL

For January Was Largest on Record

There was considerable excitement at city hall today when it was discovered that the lighting bill for January was the largest in the history of the city. The fact that only two or three night meetings were held during the month, Homer Turcotte had to throw open the windows to save the City Manager Owen Monahan when the latter learned that the lighting bill for city hall for January amounted to $103.64.

"I bet there are underground electric lights in this building," said Owen as he looked at the bill, and then he set about to figure what a great white way would cost a month if it cost $102.64 to light the city hall. Owen was soon yawning in figures and he finally decided that the best thing for him to do would be to go out and look for the leak. "There has been talk of graft heard in this building, but it's a cinch that they can't sell electric juice," mused Owen as he hurried down stairs with the bill to Alderman Cummings.

Mr. Monahan looked up some figures and found that in January, 1911, it cost $157.68 to light city hall and an unusual number of night meetings were held during that month. In January, 1912, the lighting bill for city hall amounted to $95.76. Puzzle: Find the discrepancy.

Rockefeller Is Ill
JERSEY ISLAND, Ga., Feb. 7.—After an examination of scarcely 12 minutes by Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the Pajo committee, William Rockefeller, the aged Standard Oil magnate, this afternoon showed signs of a large-scale spasm and indications of an approaching nervous collapse. At the instance of his physician the examination was continued.

Funeral of Victim of Strike
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 7.—All negotiations to secure a settlement of the garment workers' strike were postponed today until tomorrow because of the funeral of Ida Breman, the woman who was killed during a riot on the clothing shops Wednesday night. Over 5000 strikers followed the Breman funeral today, but there was no disorder.

Why Did Americans Invade Nicaragua?
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—A resolution calling on President Taft for a statement of the reasons why American troops invaded Nicaragua last summer, took forcible occupation of the territory of friendly nation and entered into armed combat with its citizens, was introduced in the senate today by Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan, chairman of the committee investigating conditions along the Mexican border. This government's action has been sharply condemned and warmly defended in previous debates on the subject.

NORMAN WHITE WILL ACT ON PROPOSED RAISES

He is Chairman of Committee—Report on College Course in Schools—Pardon to Cummings Opposed

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—Governor Foss yesterday in his first veto on the bill to increase the salaries of the board of license commissioners created found new precedent which promises to wreck every salary bill in the legislature. He states that salary increases should be passed upon by the commission on economy and efficiency.

This means that all salary increases for republican and democratic officeholders are placed at the mercy of the bull moose leader, Norman H. White, who is chairman of the new commission. Mr. White is the nephew of Governor Foss, and is familiar with salaries in the public service.

"One of the principal purposes for which this commission was created would be defeated if the legislature were to increase the salaries of our public servants without the recommendation of that commission," says the governor.

Wants Electrification

The electrification bills came up yesterday before the committee on railroads. Nathan Matthews was the principal speaker. He charged that the Boston & Albany had not kept faith with the public in the performance of terms agreed upon as a condition of the lease of the Boston & Albany to the New York Central 12 years ago.

Referring to the work of the New Haven company in electrifying from Boston to Providence, Mr. Matthews said it was a clean admission that electrification is not dependent upon the building of a connecting tunnel in Boston.

Attorney William Coolidge, for the New Haven, said that the railroads were waiting for the legislature to tell them what is wanted. They had been waiting for years without being able to find out.

In spite of opposition, said Mr. Coolidge, Mr. Allen has spent $17,555,714 and appropriated $13,594,665, besides an equipment appropriation of $6,000,000.

There were several other speakers.

College Course in Schools

A resolve providing for a report by the state board of education upon establishing collegiate courses in the public schools of cities and towns was reported by the committee on education yesterday.

The plan of such courses was favored at a hearing in the morning. The mayor said the investigation would not cost much. He told of the college course offered by the New York public schools and said that Boston as the educational centre of the country should simply supply a free collegiate course.

entering a forged note of the town of Treasurer John B. Lombard and that the case is not one for executive clemency.

Either Assistant United States At-orator, who is to be a "representative of the liberated race," is to address the house. He will be named by the speaker under an order offered yesterday by Cox of Boston and carried without debate.

For Phone Inquiry

Senator Bazelley offered in the senate yesterday an order for investigation of the telephone system by a commission of three. The resolve provides for a report by May 1.

Building Law Review

An unpaid board of five to investigate the building laws, statutes and regulations of the state and report to the legislature was urged before mer-ers.

Freed Lifer Accepts Position as Mechanic

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—More than 2000 friends visited Charles Alberto, who was pardoned Wednesday by Governor Foss, after serving thirteen years of a life sentence for the murder of his wife in 1900 at Holyoke, at his home, 11 Henchman street, yesterday.

Alberto saw clearly yesterday, for the first time in thirteen years, the remarkable changes in Boston. He referred especially to the East Boston tunnel and the Elevated.

In company with Joseph Daniels, who was very influential in securing the pardon, Alberto visited the automobile shops of Stanley Brothers in Newton. When Alberto was confined in state prison the Stanley brothers took a great interest in him and his wonderful mechanical devices. They have offered him a position in their automobile shops as a mechanic, and Alberto has accepted. He will start to work Monday.

"It seems like a dream," said Alberto, to a reporter last evening. "As I walked through the streets today I could hardly believe that I am a free man. I am very grateful to my friends who helped to secure my release and to Governor Foss and his council, who pardoned me. I shall visit them next week and assure them that they will not be ashamed of me."

A "ello, a cabinet, several violins and three clarinettes, which Alberto made in prison, are expected to arrive at his home today.

300,000 Pension Checks on Time

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The first checks paid to pensioners under the new system, which did away with the 18 agencies in various parts of the country and united them here under one head, have just gone out, and every one of the more than 300,000 checks this month were in the mail on time.

"The crucial test, the one which we were not sure we would be able to pass successfully, has been made without a hitch," said Dr. Alvah H. Thompson, in charge of the disbursements, today, after the last pensioner's check had started on its way. "On account of the vast work involved in bringing in all these agencies with their voluminous records, it was feared there might be some delay this first month, but such is not the case."

A very pleasant time was had last evening at the Chelmsford, grange in the Odd Fellows hall. The meeting was largely attended and many towns were represented. The stereopticon machine was operated by Mr. Percy Boulter and Mr. Gen. Pasche, a quartet consisting of Misses Belle, Blanche and Georgia Libbey and Lena Tucker, sang two favorite songs. Miss Ruth Butters of Somerville, a former ninth grade and high school teacher, has recovered from her illness and it is reported that she is deeply interested in the study of "Emerson."

FRAUD CHARGE DROPPED

Indictment of Wheeler and Shaw Quashed

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—The indictment in the United States district court, charging Warren B. Wheeler and Stillman Shaw with a fraudulent use of the mails in connection with the stock of the North American Rubber Company was yesterday quashed by Judge Frederick Dodge. The demurrer was sustained.

Judge Dodge in his opinion said that mere deception did not constitute fraud within the meaning of the federal statutes, and that there was no allegation in the indictment which showed that the defendants were to reap any profit from the sale of stock. In this case the defendants were summoned before the grand jury and ordered to bring books and documents pertaining to their business with them. This they declined to do, and were later committed by Judge Dodge for contempt. They were indicted and appealed to the United States supreme court.

In the opinion just handed down, Judge Dodge says it is not necessary to give the contempt matter any further consideration, although the supreme court, in a decision recently rendered, affirmed the order Judge Dodge committing the defendants for contempt. Some prominent persons were connected with the enterprise. One investor claims to have lost $20,000.

IS THIS YOUR DAUGHTER?

Are you letting thin, impure blood stand in the way of your daughter's health? Most girls have imperfect blood. Don't take it for granted that your daughter is free from it. Even now she may be in the first stages of bloodlessness. Its effects on her health and happiness are too lasting for you ever to let up in your care and watchfulness.

No matter how sick, worn out and discouraged she may be Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills will give her new hope and life. In nine percent of our ten, had bloodlessness, the real cause of their sickness and to it may be traced rheumatism, neuralgia, gas on the stomach, indigestion, anemia, chlorosis, sick headaches, nervousness, St. Vitus' dance, cataplexy and nervous prostration. For these feelings only just a little out of order, there is no better time than this to begin to take this blood-building medicine.

Remember that this is the time of the year when there must be no let down in your own health.
Any lowering of the quality of your blood now is dangerous, as it makes the body an easy victim of the grip and colds. Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to keep your blood pure and healthy and you will be well and strong.

A full explanation of the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is con-

how to treat your trouble and shows what these pills have done.

DEALT HER POOR HANDS

Bond Says Wife Nagged
and Scolded Him

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—One week after their marriage, Charles G. M. Bond, president of the Climax Paper Box Co. of North Cambridge, told Judge Hall in the East Cambridge divorce court yesterday, his second wife, formerly his housekeeper, began to nag and scold, causing him physical distress and injuring his health so that he was forced to leave her.

Kept Him Awake

Mr. Bond testified that after automobile trips and card games with his wife, during which she would accuse him of cheating her, she would begin nagging him, and that which they had retired to their chamber, she would continue talking for hours so that he was unable to get any sleep.

He wanted a divorce from her on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment. It was the second marriage of both parties, each having grown up children. Mrs. Bond was formerly Mrs. Lizzie N. Collins of Nashua, N. H., and became Mr. Bond's housekeeper after the death of his first wife in October of 1908. Seven months later, April 26, 1909, they were married at Somerville. Mrs. Bond is contesting the libel.

Other abuses that Mr. Bond accused his wife of inflicting upon him were slapping his face after pushing him into the bath room, telling him, "that she could kill him because in debt her miserable and poor hands at cards" and making his life miserable by her threats to take her own life.

Four Lambs Involved

A flock of Lambs figured in the cross divorce suit of Gilbert C. Lamb, the ex-man-o'-warman, and his wife, Grace, a "movie" actress, which was ended in the Suffolk superior court yesterday by Judge Irwin dismissing both libels on the ground that neither party had "any right to relief."

Aside from the two parties to the suit there was "Jack" Lamb, named as correspondent by the husband, to whom he is no relation and "littlest lamb of all—Melvin, the seven-year-old son of the couple who were fighting for divorce."

Mrs. Lamb declared that Gilbert Lamb had done nothing to support Melvin Lamb who is at the home of her parents in Worcester, and did not even want to see their lamb when she gave him the opportunity.

Mr. Lamb testified that she never threw inkblots at her husband, as alleged. She said he recently told her he was going to apply for a divorce.

When he left her with a 10-month-old baby to take care of she looked about for a chance to make her living and became in danger in cafes; such cafes as serve liquor and employ singers.

"When you were singing in cafes did you drink anything?" Mrs. Lamb was asked.

"I might have—but it was only water," she said.

To Make a Day of It

That her husband promised to "take a day off from work" and tell her was one of the charges made yesterday by Mrs. Annie Spear in her suit for divorce against her husband, Louis, before Judge Irwin yesterday.

Miss Ida Taylor, a witness, also charged that Spear had met her yesterday morning and told her that if she testified to certain facts she would "be sorry for it."

The case was continued to today.

TO RESTORE HIS LICENSE

Shapiro, Chauffeur of the Rosenthal "Murder Car," Not to Be Longer Deprived of Right to Drive

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—William Shapiro, driver of the "murder car" in which rode the four gangmen who shot and killed Herman Rosenthal, on July 16, at the behest of Charles Becker, will again receive a chauffeur's license to operate an automobile in this city, according to word received yesterday by District Attorney Whitman from Mitchell May, secretary of state.

Shapiro furnished material testimony of benefit to the state in the prosecution of Becker and his tools, now awaiting death by electrocution at Sing Sing prison, and was allowed his freedom in return.

Sec. May wrote that he had received a number of letters besides the one from Mr. Whitman asking that Shapiro be given another license.

MURDERER IS SOUGHT SERUM TO CURE WIFE

Boston Police Looking Pittsburgh Doctor Gets for Jack Wren First Culture

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—Jack Wren, alias Jack Ware, a native of Nova Scotia, 25 years old, 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighing 200 pounds, is sought by the Boston police as the murderer of James Stewart Hamilton, the railroad construction foreman whose battered body was found yesterday morning in Hingham, N. H.

Wanted Boston

The Hingham officials have telegraphed Boston police headquarters to arrest Wren or "Ware" on sight and hold him on a charge of murder. Holbrook, Cabot & Hollins corporation, the Boston construction firm by which Hamilton was employed, has offered a reward of $1000 for the detection of his murderer or murderers.

Until a year ago Hamilton was in the coal and iron business in Rochester, N. Y., where his parents, brother and sister now reside. He went to Hingham to take charge of 1000 men, mostly foreigners, engaged in building the new Braintree, Vt. and Hingham branch of the Boston & Maine railroad.

Drunk Body

Wednesday the men were paid off, but Hamilton did not handle the money. Early yesterday morning his body, covered with bruises, was found within 400 feet of the house where he boarded, the home of William D. Adams, four miles from the village of Hingham.

The sheriff, county attorney and medical examiner who went to Hingham to make an investigation found that a man believed to be Jack Wren, alias Jack Ware, followed the foreman Wednesday night when he started home from work. Wren was discharged by Hamilton a few days ago.

Farmer's Story

A farmer was located who declares he was asked for a ride late Wednesday night by a man answering Wren's description. The farmer said he drove the man from a point near the scene of the murder to Braintree.

Other witnesses have been found who saw the same man board a train for Boston with his wife and two children.

All trains and steamers for Nova Scotia are watched by detectives, as it is thought the suspect is trying to make his way home with his family. The despatches received by the Boston police describe Wren as blue-eyed with light complexion and smooth face.

Senate Approves Dig Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—With amendments appropriating $1,800,000 for irrigation on the Yakima Indian reservation, in Washington, $307,000 for hospitals, $125,000 for the suppression of the liquor and drug traffic, and many other increases over the house figures, the Indian appropriation bill was yesterday approved by the senate committee. A long fight in conference is forecast.

Catsup to Go Into Sewer

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—In accordance with the order of Judge Morton of the United States district court, 92 barrels of catsup will be deposited in a Boston sewer to day by the United States marshal.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Hurry home-

ward from abroad with tuberculosis serum in his possession that he says is the first of the widely discussed Friedmann culture to be brought to this country. Dr. Austin B. Held, a physician of Pittsburgh, arrived on the steamship Potsdam from Europe yesterday and at once took a train for his home, where his wife, a consumptive, awaits the arrival of what Dr. Held believes will cure her.

Dr. Held had, he thought, bacilli only for one patient, he declared. That patient will be his wife.

Dr. Held was met at quarantine by Dr. Milton H. Foster of the Ellis Island health service and questioned in behalf of the United States government about the Friedmann cure. Dr. Held told Dr. Foster he had been convinced of the efficacy of the cure and had obtained from Dr. Friedmann just enough serum to treat a patient suffering from tuberculosis of the bone.

Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann, the German scientist, who discovered the serum, last month was offered $100,000 by Charles E. Finley, a banker of this city, if he would cure 95 out of 100 patients to be placed under his care. The banker's interest in serum resulted from the fact that a relative by marriage suffers with tuberculosis.

FEW TRAINED TEACHERS

Only One-Fifth of Those in United States Have Been Professionally Trained For the Business

Not more than one in every five public school teachers in the United States is professionally trained to the extent of being a graduate of a teachers' training course, according to a bulletin on rural school teachers just issued by the United States bureau of education. In fact, A. C. Monahan and R. H. Wright, the authors of the bulletin, point out that this ratio represents only the highest possible estimate; that the actual conditions are even less favorable.

It is in the rural schools that the problem of securing competent teachers has been most acute. The attention of educational leaders has in the past been occupied by the rapid growth of the urban systems and the rural schools have been neglected. The trained teachers, themselves often the product of the country, have been attracted to the cities and towns by higher salaries and better prospects.

There was formerly little inclination to appraise rural teaching at its full value, either in pay or position, and the better teachers left the country schools as soon as they gained experience.

Raising the standard of rural teachers by dignifying rural school work as a special field of high importance is already attracting better trained teachers to the country. It is now generally demanded that the teacher for the country school have a special training for the work. "The rural teacher," says the bulletin, "needs the same courses in education and the same general methods of teaching as the town or city teacher. He needs, however, in place of some of the academic subjects of secondary or collegiate grade, additional courses in natural and physical sciences, particular-

Three main agencies are attempting to meet the demand for trained rural teachers; normal school, the county training school, and the high school. The bulletin describes the work of each of these agencies and selects typical examples from different parts of the country for more detailed description.

States normal schools at Bellingham, Wash., Harrisonburg, Va., and Athens, Ga., are discussed as examples of normal schools that offer regular courses for rural school teachers, based on special needs of their respective localities.

In other state normals there are departments of rural education, as in those of Michigan; the Illinois state normal school at Normal; the Kirksville normal school at Kirksville, Mo.; and five Wisconsin normal schools. The rural education department of the western state normal school at Kalmar, Mich., is considered typical of this group. One-year courses for rural teachers are offered at Valley City, N. Dak., Lewiston, Idaho, and Greenville, N. C. Certain county normal schools are designed solely for the preparation of rural teachers, as in Wisconsin. So great has been the lack of trained teachers in rural education that the high schools have been pressed into service. Thirteen states have organized teacher-training courses in the public high schools or in close connection with them.

NO GREAT DIFFERENCE
Burnes So Declares as to Concrete Proposals of Moore and Republicans on Individual Rights

ALBANY, Feb. 7.—The republican party and the progressive party, in their public expression on the question of individual rights, are as wide apart as the North Pole and the South Pole. Otherwise there is no great difference in the concrete proposals of the two parties.

Wm. Burnes, Jr., chairman of the republican state committee, made this assertion last night at the annual dinner of the Albany county organization. In reply to the suggestion that the republican and progressive parties amalgamate.

Among other speakers at the dinner was Guy A. Ham of Boston.

CHEER AND HISS AT TEDDY

Colonel's Name Starts
Uproar at Harvard

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—The mention of the name of Theodore Roosevelt created a storm of hisses and cheers, which nearly broke up a review of the elementary course in government at Harvard yesterday afternoon. E. A. Cottrell, an instructor at the college, was in charge of the meeting of 300 undergraduates and the noises of the opposing factions forced him to maintain silence for over five minutes.

Mr. Cottrell was speaking of the great leaders of the epoch in the history of the country, naming Theodore Roosevelt as one. Before the words had left his mouth, the Roosevelt advocates in the audience were cheering and the anti-Bull Moose men hissing.

The uproar increased all the more when the government instructor tried to obtain quiet, and stamping of feet and shouts followed. The tumultuous outbreak was finally brought to an end when the hisses made the more noise and drowned out the vocal applause of the Rooseveltians.

Mr. Cottrell then included William Jennings Bryan in the list of the great men of the period, which invoked loud cheering from most of the students.

THROWN FROM HORSE

Policeman's Skull Broken
in Fall

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—Robert E. Stewart, 35, a mounted officer of the Metropolitan park police, is at the Massachusetts General hospital, probably dying from a broken skull and concussion of the brain, as the result of being thrown from his horse when the animal shied, on Hildis street, opposite Houghton's pond, in the Blue Hill reservation, about 4.30 yesterday afternoon.

Stewart, with his head split open where he had struck against a stone wall, was found by Officer Cornelius Sheehan, who came riding along in the same direction shortly after the accident.

In the meantime, Stewart's horse ran to the police stable not far distant. Upon seeing the mount return riderless, the captain sent out a detail to search for the rider.

Policeman Stewart lives at 19 Heathcote street, Roslindale, and has a wife and seven small children.

He joined the Metropolitan Park force three years ago and had formerly been a member of the Boston fire department.

Live Bits of Sport

Plans for a swimming team from the Y. M. C. A. are nearly completed by the member of this branch committee in charge of this branch of sport, Mr. John W. Daly. All the crack swimmers in town including Tom Gallagher, Jackson Palmer, and Matt McCann have been invited to the project and negotiations are being made for contests. With this trio for a nucleus the local team should gain a state-wide "rep."

In another month Manager Gray's office in the Middlebury building will be a busy place. The pre-season preparations always mean a tremendous amount of detail work for all concerned with a baseball club and this year will be one of greater activities owing to the completion of the new stands. With the completion of the present plans for a modern ball park Lowell will have the finest baseball home on the circuit.

The crusade of Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston for an athletic field for the municipal schools of that city reminds us of the fact that the local school authorities have no permanent grounds for their games. A few years ago a far sighted young man proceeded to secure an option on all the available enclosed parks where the school teams could hold their sports and arrangements that were satisfactory to the man in question, who by the way was managing a football team of his own, had to be made before the high school team could play on their scheduled grounds. The athletic of the boys certainly did not benefit from whatever arrangements were made.

after they once receive the required impetus. Our city government is no different from those named above and it is difficult to see how it could be made a paying proposition here after paying all the needed expenses for the proper instruction and training of the schoolboys. There is something that the school board could well take action on.

With the passing of Mike Murphy from activity in athletics the game will lose the greatest trainer of them all. Mike has written Manager Frazier of the University of Pennsylvania track team from Thomaston, Ga., announcing his retirement from the athletic game. Whether the veteran trainer can be induced to again take up the reins of athletic supervision in case of complete recovery from his malady is a hard question to decide. The old sprinter will find it very difficult to part with an occupation that always meant more to him than the mere intrinsic value. Mike is known throughout the length and breadth of the land and there is not a spot on the map where he can not find friends. He has trained more champions than any other trainer and his circle of athletes and athletics has always been taken at their face value.

All the talking that the Boston newspapers are doing doesn't seem to far from the fact that the local school authorities have no permanent grounds for their games. A few years ago a far sighted young man proceeded to secure an option on all the available enclosed parks where the school teams could hold their sports and arrangements that were satisfactory to the man in question, who by the way was managing a football team of his own, had to be made before the high school team could play on their scheduled grounds. The athletic of the boys certainly did not benefit from whatever arrangements were made.

At the same time, the school sports pay for themselves.

LOWELL BOWLERS WON AT NASHUA

Local Insurance Agents Had Easy Time With the Up River Rollers—Other Games

A bowling team composed of local agents of the John Hancock Life Insurance Co. went to Nashua yesterday to match on the alleys with the Nashua team of the same company, which was never "defeated" until yesterday. Three strikes were rolled and the final score was 1423 to 1393 in favor of the Lowell team. At the close of the contest the bowlers repaired to a hotel where they enjoyed a fine meal at the expense of the Nashua team. The Testers won their match with the Romax bowling team in the Helme-Cartridge league last night by the score of 1239 to 1184. Olson of the losers was high man.

The Highland M. E. bowling team of the Baraca Bowling league defeated their old rivals for bowling honors, the Trinitarian Congregational, in a league contest last night. Measure of the winners and Hilbs of the losers were tie for high totals with a mark of 294.

In the game between the two teams last night in the Manchester Unity league, Merrimack ledge took all three strings and the totals from Loyal Excelsior by the score of 1277 to 1211. Mason of Merrimack ledge was high with a total of 285.

The Merrimacks defeated the Concord in their match with six-men teams by the score of 1527 to 1517 in a close and interesting game. Phelps of the Merrimacks was the high man with 271.

The Y. M. C. I. Bowling league produced the Athletics and the Quakers in a good six-men team game at the club alleys. The Athletics won out by 72 pins. Harrington's total of 299 was the highest that was put up.

The Old Fellows were no match for the Young Ones in their three-men game last night. The Old Ones were strong finishers, however, and succeeded in tying up the last string.

The bowling team from Proctor's Shop defeated the team from the Pure Food Food Company in a local match of long standing by the score of 1262 to 1183. McComb's total of 278 was high.

The Monuments and the Clan Archer, two-men teams, bowled a slow game to a win for the last mentioned team. Each team captured a string.

NEW NORMAL SCHOOL COURSES

Commissioner Snedden Distributes Specialties in Different Cities

The Normal schools throughout the state are changing their courses to meet the demand for vocational training so that hereafter it will not be necessary to appoint to industrial schools people who know nothing at all about the art of teaching. Commissioner Snedden of the state board of education is distributing the new branches through the different schools of the state. Thus, for example, the Lowell school has special training for supervisors of music and of public playgrounds; Worcester, supervisors of kindergarten work; North Adams, supervisors of agricultural work.

The course in the household arts department in the Framingham Normal school has been made three years in length, and a like change has been made in the department for the training of commercial teachers in the Boston Normal school. A department for the training of teachers of manual arts, open only to men who have had some experience in industry, has been organized in the Fitchburg Normal school. It is the purpose of the board, through this department, to provide teachers of the manual arts, for the upper grades of the elementary schools and for the high schools, who shall be well equipped with practical knowledge. As a result of extended conferences, several normal schools are shaping the work of the regular two-year students so as to fit them for teaching in the first six grades. Steps are being taken during the current year to organize at Fitchburg, Bridgewater and Salem three-year courses specially designed to prepare teachers for the higher grammar grades. In all cases the aim has been to attain a more exact definition of professional work. Discussions with normal school teachers show that these teachers should comprehend more

Commissioner of Education

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage every few days with little cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important. Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, indigestible and fermenting food and the foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated, poisonous matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

fully the requirements and needs of the public schools, in which the graduates of the normal schools are eventually to teach—more particularly those of the schools of country communities, in reshaping the course of study in the normal schools provision has been made for more direct training of teachers in actual school conditions. Since 1898 the normal school at Framingham has maintained a summer school, which has grown steadily in size and health, and has been a great success. For the two preceding summers the commissioner and deputy commissioner and the agents of the board have held conference with superintendents of schools at the Hyannis summer school, which has served to bring the board of education into more intimate contact with the work of the union superintendents. The attendance at the Hyannis school for the summer of 1912 was 250. A school, with a session of one week, was held at the North Adams normal school during the summer of 1912, just prior to the opening of the schools in the Berkshires. The word of 200 teachers and superintendents were in attendance. The normal school at North Adams has for two years conducted correspondence courses with country teachers, and thus, at comparatively little added expense, has in a large measure extended its influence, especially among young teachers having their first actual experience.

Vocational Education
Vocational education in Massachusetts is making steady progress. Pains-taking attention must, however, be given to working out detailed programs, to the training of teachers, to the discovery of opportunities for productive work, and to the further enlistment of public interest. It is believed that part-time vocational education offers the largest opportunity for the immediate future wherever employers find it possible to co-operate. Agencies must be established for the training of industrial teachers. Hitherto the state has relied for teachers upon persons who have had experience in some training or related fields, or upon skilled mechanics. The supply of teachers does not equal the demand. The board of education has in view measures looking to the systematic development of training agencies.

During the past two years the commission of vocational education, a committee of normal school teachers to prepare courses of study in the

END LIVER TROUBLE WITHOUT CALOMEL

Untrustworthy Drug, Thought to Loosen the Teeth, Now Made Absolutely Unnecessary

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—has the mildest but most effective action on the liver and bowels. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel troubles with calomel. Dr. Edwards has been a pioneer in the use of vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil. These pleasant, harmless little tablets do all the good that calomel does but have no bad after-effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong purgatives or cathartics. They take hold of the trouble and quickly remove it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong purgatives. It is best to take calomel at all, but to let Olive Tablets take their place.

several subjects for the elementary schools of the towns in superintendency unions. Courses of study adapted to the first six grades have been outlined in considerable detail, not as prescriptive, but as suggestions to superintendents. These courses were completed and distributed at the beginning of the present school year and have already demonstrated their value. In 1911, Julius E. Warren, agent of the board, prepared a special bulletin on agricultural projects suitable for use in rural schools.

The commissioner of education for some time has recommended a reorganization of the schools in densely populated communities, whereby children of the first six grades shall be educated in school buildings located reasonably near the homes of the pupils, where pupils over 12 years of age are to be taught in central schools, in which departmental work and differentiated courses of study are to be given. Four conferences of city superintendents have been held with a view of discussing details of the proposed reorganization. The city of Beverly and the town of Walpole, after serious consideration have inaugurated experiments along the lines recommended.

In several directions it would be profitable for the board to establish an advisory way agencies for the promotion of public education throughout the commonwealth in addition to those now in operation. Under the law all towns and cities are required to maintain medical inspection.

Doctors Said He Had Dropsy

Some time ago I had an attack of grippe which finally settled in my kidneys and bladder. I doctored with the doctors and they claimed I had dropsy. I tried other remedies and got no relief from any of them. My condition was such that I was unable to work for about two months and the annoying symptoms caused me a great deal of trouble and pain. I was hardly able to turn over in bed. Seeing one of your Almanacs, I decided to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial and after taking several bottles was able to resume my work again. I cannot say too much in praise of your Swamp-Root as the results in my case were truly wonderful.

Yours very truly,

more effective such medical inspection. Again, it would be an advantage to education in Massachusetts if the state employed a specially trained agent who would give his services to communities in the enforcement of the laws on compulsory education on the census and on the oversight and custody of truant.

The state-aided vocational schools of Massachusetts are designed to fit persons above 14 years of age for work in the shop, in the home or on the farm, but not for service in business or the professions. These schools are supported jointly by the communities in which they are located and by the state; the former building, equipping and operating the plant, and the state reimbursing one half of the cost of maintenance.

Twenty-three approved state-aided vocational schools, classified as adult-educational units without regard to number of activities are in operation in 19 cities and towns of the commonwealth. Of these the following were established during the school year 1911-1912 and have been approved provisionally:

- Hosier Continuation School of Home-making.
- Everett Independent Evening Industrial School.
- Holyoke Independent Evening Industrial School.
- Lowell Independent Industrial school.
- Quincy Independent Evening Industrial School.
- Somerville Independent school for girls.
- Springfield Independent Day Industrial school for boys.
- Watertown Independent Evening Industrial school.

GOOD WEATHER FOR ICE

Dealers Are Taking Advantage of it

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—Cold weather during the past week has practically dispelled fears of a great ice shortage in New England this summer. Harvesting of the crop has begun in the northern states and with the weather continuing cold it was expected that the cutting of ice would be started in southern New England next week. Boston ice men declared today that the crop harvested this winter would be considerably smaller than that of last year because of the lateness of the season. They stated that the problem to be faced now was to house the ice before the spring thaw set in. A number of dealers in this city have been obliged to turn to New Hampshire for their crop. Large ponds have been leased in this state, where the ice was reported to be of good quality and from 10 to 15 inches thick. The dealers have shipped much of the ice to their houses near Boston. Ponds in northern Massachusetts are coated with ice from three to nine inches thick. The dealers have completed plans for laying in the yearly harvest. With a few more cold days it was expected the ice companies would be able to cut good crops on the Penobscot and Kennebec rivers in Maine, in Rhode Island few dealers have reported more than six inches on their ponds.

IN SOUTH CHELMSFORD

Mrs. H.H. Bickford's Barn
Totally Destroyed

Fire totally destroyed the spacious grain barn owned by Mrs. H. H. Bickford, shortly after 10 o'clock on Wednesday night. The building was used for storing grain and had been leased to Alvin Fletcher. In spite of the efforts of the fire department to subdue the flames, the structure was quickly consumed and laid in ashes. The barn was located near the First Baptist church in the rear of the latter, but no serious damage to the church resulted from this dangerous proximity.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Byam were guests of relatives in Boston over Saturday. Mrs. John B. Emerson has been visiting in Westboro the past week. The young people of the village gave a pretty dancing party in the hall last Saturday night. A delegation from the "Farther Lights" attended a rally at the Fifth Street church, Lowell, last night. The Ladies' Social circle held a meeting in the vestry Wednesday afternoon. Supper was in charge of Mrs. Fadden and Mrs. Fish.

FINANCES OF FORDWAY BRIDGE

Being Cleared Up by the Town of Billerica—Prize for Corn Show Trade Mark

At a meeting of the board of selectmen held Monday evening a bill for $9550 was approved as the final payment on the new Fordway bridge. While the work of grading each side of the bridge has not yet been finished the county has presented a check of $5500 permitting the town to settle with the contractors. The last payment has been made by the Bay State Street Railroad and the sum of $715 is left to grade the approaches to the bridge. The selectmen have petitioned the Massachusetts state highway commission under the provisions of chapter 279, acts of 1908 for $2500, the town to appropriate a similar sum at the next annual town meeting, to build new roads between the Billerica-Burlington and the Billerica-Chelmsford town lines.

The statute relative to such appropriations is as follows:

"The commission shall allot for and expend in such towns the valuation of which does not exceed one million dollars, and in such amounts, as it determines, 5 per cent. of the amount appropriated each year for the construction of state highways, to be used in constructing and repaving ways in such towns; and it shall not be a condition precedent that such towns shall make any appropriation or contribution in excess of the usual annual appropriations for highway purposes to become eligible for an expenditure under this section. Said commission may also allot for and expend in such towns for like purposes in addition to any expenditures herein provided for, a further amount of 5 per cent. of said amount appropriated, if such towns appropriate or contribute, to be expended

The Asa John Patten circle, Ladies of the G. A. R. met in the Gardner Parker hall Wednesday afternoon and a great deal of business was transacted. A large number of ladies were present. Mrs. Mina B. Gardner, president of the circle, invited the ladies of the circle, the comrades and the sons of veterans to her home on Lincoln's birthday. The members are requested to bring something for refreshments.

Corn Show Trade Mark

A citizen of Billerica has offered a prize of $5 to the man, woman or child for the best design on an emblem and trade mark for the corn show to be held in this town next October. The contest will close on Friday, Feb. 21. The rules are as follows:

The sketch may be drawn in any size—it should not be too small because it will be reduced when the photo is made—but must contain the words "Billerica-Corn Contest; an ear of corn or a corn stalk; and any motto or ornamentation that may be devised must be appropriate to corn raising.

The judges will be the "corn show" committee appointed by the Billerica board of trade and the Billerica grange. The prize will be awarded during the week of Feb. 22.

An addition is being made to the lumber yard of John Richardson at Bennett Hall. The new building will be used for a wood working shop and will be operated by an electric motor.

Icebergs Invade Steamship Lanes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Icebergs and fogs are rapidly bearing down on the northern steamship lanes, and unless cold weather sets in to cement the ice fields, officials of the navy hydrographic office fear shipping will be endangered. The navy department yesterday sent broadcast warnings of the reported ice. A huge ice field extending as far as the horizon east and north from the Grand Banks was reported by the British steamship Valetta. The steamship Oriskany informed the navy department by wireless that a large berg, 45 feet long and 20 feet in height, was drifting southward toward the steamship lanes.

BILL TO APPOINT WOMEN U. S. KERR IN RECITAL

Mayor Duane's Petition Held Up is Held Up Universalist Church

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—The effort of Mayor Duane to permit the appointment of two women as department heads in his city was checked yesterday when the rules committee of the house postponed action on a bill which he seeks to have introduced. Mayor Duane says his purpose is to give the city two of the best officials it has ever had.

Backed by a dozen supporters, the mayor went before the rules committee to explain why he had not filed his petition before the time limit had expired. He had delayed, he said, because of the uncertainty as to whether one of the women would accept. The matter was not one of politics, he declared, as the two republican newspapers had supported his action editorially.

W. J. Barry, who opposed the mayor's bill, said to a special committee of the board of aldermen had reported against the plan and the report had been accepted by the board. He described the act of the mayor as "just a whim" and his bill "frank legislation."

Ex-Mayor B. D. Johnson opposed the bill on the ground that the mayor was trying to step in and supersede the board of aldermen. He had been told by the city solicitor, he said, that a change in the charter would be necessary in order to appoint the women to office.

DIES AT AGE OF 92

Mrs. Nancy Tyler of Andover Died in That Town All of Her Life—Was 111 a Long Time

ANDOVER, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Nancy Tyler, aged 92, died at her home, 43 Whittier street yesterday after a long illness. She was born in Andover and had resided here all her life. She was one of the oldest members of the Old South church.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Myron E. Gutterston of this town, and a son George Tyler of Malden. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon and the body will be taken to Mt. Auburn for cremation.

CATTLE ARE INSPECTED

Feature of Massachusetts Agricultural College Extension School at Newburyport

NEWBURYPORT, Feb. 7.—The feature of yesterday's session of the extension school of the Massachusetts agricultural college, being held in this city this week, was a trip to the Eastern farm at Eggleston, owned by E. P. Burke, to inspect a herd of Ayrshire cattle recently imported from Scotland. The trip was in charge of G. E. Story.

"Poultry raising" was one of the chief topics of the day, and the subject brought to the school Prof. J. C. Graham, who was round by E. P. Burke here as an instructor. Other talks during the day were by F. D. Wald and Mr. Story.

Yesterday Miss Alice Bunce addressed the home-makers' section on "The Cooking of Meats." Last evening the section was round by E. P. Burke here as an instructor. Other talks during the day were by F. D. Wald and Mr. Story.

The members of Branch St. Andre, A. C. F., held their regular meeting in Graton hall last evening and installed the recently elected officers. The installing officer was Eugene Deschamps, a past president of the order, and he was assisted by Charles Bazin of Milbury, a general director of the A. C. F., while those ushered into office were as follows:

Representative to the executive council, Henri Hamilton; president, L. J. Corniller; first vice president, Ferdinand Theriault; secretary-treasurer, Edmond Berger; chief marshal, Calixte Boucher; assistant marshal, Charles Normandin; trustees, Joseph Dion, William Braultigan and Lucien Ficher; chaplain, Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M.

At the close of the business meeting refreshments were served and an entertainment program was enjoyed.

CRASHES INTO AUTO

Lawrence E. Wright, Aged 8, Probably Fatally Injured While Coasting at Needham

NEEDHAM, Feb. 7.—Lawrence E. Wright, aged 8, was seriously and perhaps fatally injured in a coasting accident last yesterday afternoon. The little fellow was coasting on Rosemary street, Needham Heights, and as he was rounding a sharp curve ran into the rear of an automobile, owned by William H. Carter and operated by Paul Warner.

The machine was stopped at once and the boy was placed in the car, which raced to the Glover hospital where an operation was performed by Dr. Brewster. He was found to have sustained a severe fracture of the skull and is now expected to live. The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wright.

Grace Church Coffee Party

The coffee party at Grace church last night was well attended and fairly teemed with sociability. There was a two-act comedy, entitled "Six Kneelings," with the following cast: "Claire Reynolds," the "Kneelings," Mrs. Sarah Dion; "Dennis," the maid, Mrs. Eva Barton; "Mrs. Reynolds," Mrs. Minnie Safford; "Inez White," an old friend, Mrs. Blanche Murphy; "Claudia Snell," modiste, Mrs. Marion Barton; "Mrs. Thaddeus Lynch," manufacturer, Mrs. Ida Randall; "Cecilia Brown," "de jure" angel, Mrs. Ella Wing; "Mrs. Washington Jones," a kleptomaniac recommended by "President Roosevelt," Mrs. Carrie Harris; "Bridget de Flanagan," a kleptomaniac and French linguist, Mrs. Eleanor Parham; "Madame Joliet," who had hoped to be the widow of 19 men, Mrs. Gertrude Martin.

Mrs. F. H. Safford had general charge of the entertainment.

The First Universalist church last evening presented Ulysses S. Kerr in a song recital which was very pleasing to the large and select audience which had gathered in the church vestry. The musical program was one of the best ever given in this city considering the fact that Mr. Kerr with his accompanist, Frank Luker, constituted the entire program.

The clever artist who possesses an extraordinarily fine basso voice, selected some of the most difficult vocal selections and rendered them in a most commendable manner.

The program consisted of the following numbers:

Kyrie (French).....Holmes
Elegie (French).....Massenet
Kamrat (Norwegian).....Korling
My Star.....Mrs. H. H. A. Beach
Hollings Down Hill.....German
The Ballad of Tires and the Master.....Chadwick
The Land of the Leal.....Pinto
To Horses To Horses.....Stephens Elegie solo, Edele in F sharp, McDowell Frank Luker.

Puri-bondo Spira il vento, (Italian) Handel Song to the Evening Star, from "Fanny Hauer".....Wagner
Gott sei ich die Herrscheur.....Schubert
Die Phoe Gottes.....Beethoven
Toreador Song from "Carmen".....Bizet

The talented singer rendered his selections in four different languages, French, English, Italian and Norwegian, and each number was received with tremendous applause.

What is impressive with Mr. Kerr's singing is his remarkable breath control and the flexibility of his voice, for he does not chop his melody into short phrases, but loves the long musical line. He is able to sustain a tone, to increase or diminish its power almost at will.

All numbers were very pleasing, but the last, the "Toreador" song, was exceedingly well rendered. Despite the fact that the program was long and in different languages, Mr. Kerr gave it entirely from memory.

Mr. Frank Luker is not only a clever accompanist, but also a refined musician. He rendered the Etude in F sharp by Macdowell, and his playing was so charming, that the audience forced him to respond to an encore. All in all, the recital was one of the best heard in this city, and such musical feasts ought to be given more often, for in Lowell there is a certain number of lovers of good music who can appreciate it.

MAD DOG BITES THREE

Others Have Narrow Escape at Hills Grove, R.I.

HILLSGROVE, R. I., Feb. 7.—Three persons were bitten and several others had narrow escapes when a dog went on a rampage here yesterday. The dog, a shepherd, was bitten in the back and on the right arm.

George L. Henderson, a Warwick constable, had a struggle with the animal, and both his arms were lacerated before he finally shook off the animal.

Agostino Barretto, 8 years old, was bitten on one arm while on his way to school.

William Baker, an employee of the Elizabeth mill, saw the excitement and, obtaining a shotgun, killed the dog. The dog is said to have belonged to a farmer. It is claimed that the animal had an ugly disposition and had been kept confined, but that it broke away from its kennel early yesterday.

All the injured persons were hurried to the office of Dr. Hagenow, where their wounds were cauterized. The dog's head will be sent to the biological laboratory at Brown university for examination.

Physicians Exonerated

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Feb. 7.—A scanning of the court's findings in the recent damage suit settled here in favor of the plaintiffs, the Rev. L. A. Klander, shows that the two physicians who were named as defendants in the action were exonerated by the jury and will not be called upon to pay the $15,000 damages awarded to Klander.

Rev. L. A. Klander named as defendant in his suit Bishop Gabriels of the diocese of Ogdensburg, Coadjutor Bishop Conroy and Drs. W. B. Hamblidge and W. G. Cooper of the Ogdensburg state asylum for the insane. He charged all of them with conspiracy which resulted in false imprisonment. In returning a verdict in his behalf the jury exonerated the physicians of the conspiracy charge and the damages awarded, it sustained by the higher courts, must be paid by the clergy.

BIG IRON LAND SUIT

Government Moves to Oust Southern Pacific To Save the Spine of a Salem Man

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—A contest involving 4000 acres of mineral land in Riverside county, California, comprising iron claims said to be worth millions of dollars, is to be instituted in the United States land office here, according to an announcement made yesterday by G. W. Helm, in charge of the field division of the land office.

The contest will be begun by the government in an effort to oust the Iron Mining company, said to be a subsidiary of the South Pacific Railroad company, which is a defendant in suits in the federal courts here involving land valued at $25,000,000.

According to land officials in Los Angeles, the Iron Mining company, after expending $1,500,000 in buying up the claims of other citizens in the Riverside and 1911 for patents on the property, Helm made an investigation, and filed with the general land office in Washington a report in which objections to the granting of patents to the Iron Mining company were made on the following grounds:

"That the company had not complied with the requirements of the government law; that the assessment work had been done by a contractor; that the contractor had not performed work to the stipulated extent of $500 a year on each claim, but had done his work on the land as a whole wherever access was the easiest; that the ore where the development work was performed did not justify the entry to the land under mineral claim laws, and that a claim filed upon with the above purpose of erecting a mill had never been used in that manner.

The verdict of the general land office in Washington was received yesterday. It sustained Mr. Helm's contention, and he at once prepared to file notices of contest against the company.

It was said to have been a desire of the late B. H. Harriman to erect a great smelter on the southern California coast, to be operated by ore from the Kern county fields and kept busy with iron ore from Riverside county.

BOSTON BAKED APPLE

Traveling Man Writes The Sun from Lyndonville, N. Y., on How to Prepare It

Lyndonville, N. Y. (Orleans Co.) Editor Sun, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: Up here in the great apple belt of New York state, I have just re-learned how to eat and enjoy apples and I want to tell some of my popular paper, Little Sun, in the first place, we people who live in the country, even though we have come from the city, somehow seem to lose sight of the apple, more or less except as it comes to us in the form of pie or something of the sort, and realize the most healthful, delicious and economical dainty in the world.

The reason for these raptures, especially is a dish that was served to me last night at which I was so delighted and so new to me, that I was penetrated to the kitchen and got the recipe for Boston Baked Apple. Here it is: Put them in a Boston baked beans pan, or some other similarly covered dish and water enough to about one-half inch, with plenty of sugar, then put in oven and bake until tender, then put clear. (That's what my hostess said, meaning a sort of translucent.) And to think that when apples are so cheap this year such a delight is within the reach of everybody, we want to hurry. Most truly, Travelling Man.

SALEM, Feb. 7.—Thomas Flynn, of 4 River street, is resting comfortably at the Salem hospital after a surgical operation, in which a piece of one of his shinsbones was grafted on his spinal column, which had been weakened by tuberculosis and threatened to make him a hunchback.

The operation was performed by Dr. Harvey P. Newhall of Lynn. It is new in surgery and was first performed by Dr. Abner of New York. Few doctors in New England have attempted to perform it.

Dr. Newhall said after the operation: "Everything went off beautifully and I think the patient is going to be all right."

"I made a groove down the spinous processes and inserted a narrow piece taken from the shinsbone. This will form a living splint which will support the backbone. The operation replaced the old method of keeping the patient in a plaster cast for two years. The loss of a portion of the shinsbone will not cripple the patient."

THE LITERACY TEST

The new bill for the restriction of immigration, which has passed through congress, now awaits only the signature of President Taft to become law. One clause of the bill provides that all aliens over 16 years of age must be able to read either their own or the English language before they can be admitted to this country.

Because of this clause it is to be hoped that President Taft will veto the bill. A wave of protest against this unnecessary condition is sweeping over the land. The press is on the whole against the measure. Societies of foreign born peoples are flooding the mail with resolutions of denunciation and Congressman Curley of Boston is to go to Washington personally with a protest signed by 500,000 people.

A man's inability to read should be no argument against his admittance to this country. In years past such a law would have kept men from our shores who afterwards either themselves or through their children, were among the leaders of the land for all that is best among us. The great majority of immigrants must live by the labor of their hands. For them brains are more essential than brawn, character is more necessary than learning. Ability to read is no test of character. On the other hand the most undesirable among immigrants, the men who follow anarchistic or socialist doctrines, may be depended on to pass the literacy test with high honors. It is not from the ranks of the unlettered that men spring who have become a menace to American institutions. The honest, illiterate immigrant does not become the strike agitator, socialist leader, or assassin of presidents.

In distant lands and under tyrannical governments it is difficult for many to secure even the rudiments of learning. Because of no fault of their men and women in the struggle for existence become hewers of wood and drawers of water. When the opportunity presents itself to come to these shores, as all our fathers did, they bring qualities that are far preferable to ability to read—the desire for liberty and happiness, and the determination to give to their children the opportunities denied to themselves. How unjust then it is that we should forbid them entrance.

The great farming resources of this vast country are as yet undeveloped. In the middle west they are educating the immigrant to leave the cities and settle in the country places. All over the land this could be done and the men who may be debared because of the literacy test are of the type most desirable for this work. They bring muscular arms, broad shoulders, rugged health, and the desire for a home. By all means let them come in. We'll teach their children to read. It is to be hoped that in this, one of the president's last official acts, he will weigh well the real issues involved, that he will heed the sentiment of the country as a whole and veto this unjust bill.

THE GARMENT WORKERS' STRIKE

The garment workers' strike, begun in New York about a week ago, has spread to Boston and Chicago and promises to become general. It contains all the features that have become associated with such strikes in the public mind such as: sympathetic walk-outs, picket duty, loud voiced organizers, parades and other demonstrations. Now from Rochester, N. Y., comes the news of bloodshed. A crowd of 700 strikers paraded to the workshop of Valentine Sauter and tried to persuade his workers, to the number of 40, to join them. The crowd became violent and stones were thrown with the result that Sauter procured a shotgun and fired from a window, killing a young girl of seventeen, and wounding others.

It is difficult to pass judgment on acts such as this committed by either side during a strike agitation. At such times people are apt to be swayed by passion rather than reason. The feelings of individuals are absorbed in the wild tumult of mobs, and violence is the result, frequently occasioning loss of life. Unscrupulous leaders then taking hold of these incidents, appeal to popular prejudice with the result that in forming judgment the real point is lost sight of. The murder of the unfortunate girl in Rochester, like the murder of the woman in Lawrence during the mill strike is merely an incident and in no way affects the justice or the injustice of the cause. Eventually it will be found necessary for the sake of public peace, to forbid during strikes many things that now are tolerated. The main procedure should be to secure arbitration and this is not advanced by parades or noisy demonstrations which in the end are injurious to the cause of labor.

Seen and Heard

When one is looking for something and in a hurry to catch a train for home, how good it seems to meet one who is willing to lend a helping hand. Experienced what at the state house yesterday, I was looking for a certain legislative document and had but a few minutes to spare. I looked my predicament, perhaps, but felt almost happy when a young man stepped up to me and asked if he could be of any assistance to me. I told him what I wanted and he got it for me in the twinkling of an eye. He was a Lowell boy, too, though he didn't know me. His name is Benjamin McKinley, son of Robert McKinley, and I hope he will not be offended because of my open expression of appreciation. I understand that the young man is studying law in Boston and that he puts in his spare time in the legislative document division at the state house. Here's hoping that some day he will be a great lawyer.

Two elderly chess fanatics were absorbed in a game. Both were experts and right followers of the rules of the game, written and otherwise. For nearly five hours neither had spoken a word. Backward and forward, moving and countermoving, the game swung with no advantage to either player. Finally one of the old fellows made a fatal break. Quick as a flash his opponent moved his knight in his position and softly murmured, "Check!"

The other player, making no effort to conceal his displeasure, rose from the game. "What's the matter?" demanded his friend. "Going to quit?" "I certainly am. I'll be hanged if I can play chess with a damned old chatteringbox!"

Sir Samuel Stims saw sweet Sarah Samson swimming. Suddenly she seemed sinking. Sir Samuel stood stunned. Striding seaward, spurning shingle, Sir Samuel swiftly swam seawards. Sir Samuel skillfully supported swooning Sarah. Swimming shorewards, Sir Samuel successfully succored Sarah. Seemingly somewhat shaken, Sir Samuel sampled some sprits—special Scotch.

Sarah saw Sir Samuel's self-sacrificing spirit. Sir Samuel saw Sarah's sweetness. Sir Samuel asked, "Sweet Sarah, striding slowly, Sarah sighed softly. Sir Samuel seemed speechless.

"Say something, Sir Samuel," said Sarah. "Say 'Sam, Sarah,'" said Sir Samuel. "Sarah—Sally," stammered Sir Samuel.

"Sweet Sarah—Sweetheart. Sarah solemnly surrendered. (Printer's remark: "Please omit this; we are short of space.")—T.H.H.

"The women folks must be growing more accurate in throwing things," observed my old friend, John Trickett, seeing that those who are regarded as now so proficient in the art that when ever they shy a brick a bobby or an M. P. gets it. Seems to be a rather singular mode of impressing a man with the fact that they believe themselves mentally as good as they are self to vote. But it's an effective way of impressing him, for whatever may be his views on the subject, they have prosecuted their claims so vigorously that they've compelled him to sit up and take notice, whether it has been his pleasure or not.

"I imagine, though, that most of the hue and cry raised on this question is raised by women who have little else with which to occupy their minds. Each and every one of us has some particular interest which takes up our attention. The interest of the youth is in his sports, of the bachelor in his club, of the father in his work, of the mother in her children's welfare, of the girl in her social affairs, and of the unmarried woman in her uplift work. A generation ago this last type had her interest centered in the civilizing of the South Sea cannibals and her energies are being put forth to uplift her near-door sisters. The job she has tackled in this generation is as hard as the one she tackled a few decades ago.

Of course we cannot say just how many women would vote if the franchise were extended to them. But where there is no natural tendency to think about and to seriously consider political affairs it follows that but few votes would be dropped into the ballot box. And the mentality of the majority of women has, through the environment of many generations, gradually been so moulded that they have come to be a darn sight more concerned in the tilt of a bonnet than in the rise and fall of a government. That is, the good looking ones are, and fortunately or unfortunately they far outnumber the ugly looking sisters. But as far as the English suffragettes are concerned, why should they court these indignities when their purpose may be obtained in an extremely simple manner? The course I refer to has been suggested by the Chicago Tribune. Instead of smearing silk hats, flinging bricks and scattering sick, let them throw their bony arms around the necks of the sedate M. P.'s in full view of the public; let them peck the blushing cheeks of these distinguished gentlemen with their grim, forbidding lips, let them embrace the slatterns with all the ardor of modern Cleopatras, and presto, their cause will be triumphant without further struggle."

THE TRIUMPH OF LIFE

Leaves have their glad recall,
And blossoms open to the south
wind's breath.
And stars that set shall rise again, for all
All things shall triumph o'er the Spiller—Death.

Day was not made for care—
Eve brings bright angels to the joyous
heart—
Night comes with dreams of peace, and
visions fair
Of those whom Death could conquer
not on earth.
When, in the festive hour,
Death mingles poison with the ruby
wine,
Life also comes with overwhelming
power
Changing the deadly draught to life
divine.

Youth and the opening rose
May vanish from the outward sight
away,
But life their inward beauty shall disclose,
And not the haughty spoiler of his prize.

Leaves have their glad recall,
And blossoms open to the south
wind's breath.
And stars that set shall rise again, for all
All things shall triumph o'er the Spiller—Death.

We know that yet again
Our loved and lost shall cross the
summer sea,
Bearing with them the sheaves of golden grain,
Which they have harvested, O Life!
with thee.

Thy breath is in the gale,
Where kisses unspeakable the violet's azure
eye,
And though the roses in our path
grow pale,
We know that all things change, they
do not die.

Wherever man may roam,
Thy presence, viewless as the summer
air,
Meets him abroad, or in his peaceful
home,
And when Death calls him forth thou loose art there.

Thou art where soul meets soul,
Or where earth's noblest fall in battle strife.
But Death, the Spiller, yields to thy control:
Forever more thou art the conqueror, Life.

Local Owls Pay Tribute to James Reynolds

The Lowell Nest, No. 1255, Order of Owls met last night in their quarters at Elks hall. There was a good attendance, and President J. Walter Bowers, presided. A large amount of regular lodge business was transacted. Several applications for membership were presented and referred to the committee. Vice President MacCallum again had the honor of proposing the greatest number of names, having brought in six candidates, all secured since the last meeting in January.

The annual report of the board of trustees was submitted by Chairman Richard Flynn. The report in detail gave an inventory of the Nest's personal property, also, an account of their stewardship for the year 1912. The entertainment committee through its chairman, J. E. MacCallum, reported everything in readiness for ladies' night, and whilst which will

Physicians Never Prescribe Patent Medicines

But every good physician must keep abreast of the times. The success of his practice and the lives of his patients depend upon his knowledge of the latest pharmaceutical preparations.

And the best physicians, those that are most successful in the treatment of their patients, are generous enough, bigminded enough, to prescribe compounds that were discovered by other practitioners, provided these compounds have stood the test.

Nurto is such a preparation. It was compounded from the prescription of a practicing physician and is entirely free from narcotics and opiates.

Nurto quickly relieves the most excruciating rheumatic pains. It prevents them from reappearing with inclement weather.

take place Thursday evening, Feb. 20, in Elks hall.

The business meeting will be held in the upper hall at 7 o'clock. The concert program will be given and refreshments served in the regular lodge hall, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

President Bowers announced to the Nest the death of Worthy Brother James Reynolds, who passed away on Saturday, Feb. 1st.

The president requested the members to stand in silence in respect to the memory of the deceased brother and ordered the charter draped for 30 days. A draft for $100 was ordered to be paid the deceased brother's widow or his estate, and also an order for sick benefit to the time of Bro. Reynolds' death.

Past President Edward M. Bowers spoke feelingly and at some length of Bro. Reynolds' beautiful home life. "His was a real Christian home," said Mr. Bowers. "His influence was felt not only within its confines, but was shed abroad and reached a very wide circle, and the fruits of that home life are manifest today in the splendid Christian manhood, and womanhood of his children, the richest heritage that man can transmit. Several others spoke in the highest praise of the departed brother.

There will be a large class initiation at the first meeting of the Nest in March.

DOUBLE WEDDING CELEBRATION

Landlady of Manchester Boarding House and Three Boarders Principals in the Ceremony

MANCHESTER, N. H., Feb. 7.—Love in a boarding house led to a double wedding last evening at 144 Middle street, this city. Mrs. W. Emma Chalkley, the landlady, and George Daw of Holderness, N. H., a boarder, were married, as were two other boarders, Miss Mildred Collins and George Pierce of Greenville, S. C. Justice of the Peace Joseph E. Druker officiated.

Miss Mary Ruddy, the cook, was maid of honor for both ceremonies and William G. Carr best man. After a reception, wedding supper and dance both couples left for Boston.

Miss Fortune led me into this and I guess Pierce is in the same boat, said the landlady, but would explain no further.

ALICE AND MAY

I'm sorry I offended you the other day, May, when we were talking about the suffrage. A friend of yours informed me, that it was none of my business if the suffragettes liked, so long as they didn't break any laws. I don't suppose it is any of my business, but any normal person is filled with curiosity when he reads about their antics, he wonders what they're up to, this time. And then, if you've ever noticed, the ladies always take care to have their things put in the papers, so that it looks as though they were trying to make everybody else interested in their business, too. But I was going to tell you, May—I read such a queer article on "Love," yesterday. The writer said that marriage today are the cause of the "hysterical woman's movement." I wonder if she meant "hysterical" to go with "woman" or "movement"? It would be all right with either.

What did you say was the name of the article, Alice?

It was "Is Love a Symptom of Degeneration?"—Do you believe in love, May?

I'm, I guess so. Don't you, Alice?

To tell the truth, I don't know anything about it. When I was about sixteen, I thought I was an authority on the subject, but I got past that stage now. I've often imagined that I was in love, but I always got over it quickly. I thought I had met my affinity this summer, but I saw him in a bathing suit one day, and I decided that it was his white flannel suit I had fallen in love with—and not him.

I don't know what love is, and if I did, I wouldn't give you a definition of it, or I'd be getting into trouble the same as I did with the suffrage business. But I suppose, if I had been in love with that affinity, I wouldn't have thought so much of his clothes, but just about himself.

I think fellows fall in love easier than girls—at least, the Lowell fellows do. Haven't you noticed that, Alice?

Yes—and not only easier, but more often. That isn't love, though, May. A lot of fellows are naturally mushy, and they think that "any little girl that's a nice little girl" is just the girl for them. They change their minds in a week, or as soon as a nicer little girl comes along.

Women are supposed to be more changeable, but they have nothing on the men in that respect. I decided that was that article on love you were talking about, Alice?

GOOD BYE TO WILSON

Princeton Residents Plan Great Send Off

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 7.—Residents of this town, students, members of the faculty, neighbors and townsfolk generally, will say good bye to Woodrow Wilson on the evening of Saturday, March 1 two days before he departs for Washington to assume the presidency. Plans for a big farewell demonstration to the president-elect, who has lived here for more than 27 years, were announced today by Joseph Hoff, a member of the democratic state committee, and an intimate friend of the governor.

"We want to show Governor Wilson that while we regret to lose him as a neighbor," said Hoff, "we are glad that a resident of this town should be going to the White House."

The farewell probably will take the form of a reception at the Wilson bungalow. Citizens of the town will cooperate with the students in making the celebration one of great enthusiasm. A big parade will start from the center of the town and march down Cleveland lane to the Wilson home.

The students who have just organized a brass band to lead them in the inaugural parade, expect to give the band its first tryout on that occasion.

The students also are busy with plans for escorting the governor to Washington by special train on March 3. They will travel in a long string of coaches and have engaged for the president-elect and his family the same private car from which the governor made most of his campaign speeches.

The president-elect left here at 8:22 a. m. today for Philadelphia for his regular weekly visit to a dentist.

ICE BREAKS UNDER SKATERS

Two Harvard Students Had Thrilling Experience—One Could Not Swim—Rescued With Great Difficulty

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—Two Harvard men, a student and a graduate, were near death from drowning yesterday when they plunged through the ice on the Charles river, near Arsenal bridge, Allston. Their names are withheld by the Metropolitan police.

One of the pair could not swim, and when they were splashed into the icy water it was with difficulty that the one who could swim rescued his companion. The water is about 25 feet deep, and the rescue took several minutes. The shore was reached finally, and the two young men went to the speedway division of the Metropolitan Police association.

Their icy clothes were removed, the rescuer revived, and a telephone call for more clothes sent to friends. When the clothes arrived the young men went back to Cambridge.

THE MILITANT METHODS

Suffragettes in Sympathy With Sisters

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Shivers of apprehension ran up and down the spines of government officers today when it was learned that the American suffragettes, whose national headquarters are here, do not look with great disfavor upon the militant methods employed by their sisters in England against the officials of the crown and the members of parliament.

Mrs. Clara Colby, one of the prominent suffragettes, told a crowd of meeting of the Federated Women's club last night that the window smashing, police fighting English suffragettes had made possible to advancement of the cause of the United States.

"The English women have been driven to their militant methods and we should not blame them," said Mrs. Colby. "They always stop at the actual talking of life and while I believe in peace and would not advocate the militant methods for the United States we must realize that the work done in England has had effect in America."

Of Hood Farm Has Returned From the American Berkshire Congress—Was Elected President

James E. Dodge, superintendent at Hood farm, has returned from Columbia, South Carolina, where he was elected president of the American Berkshire congress, which held its annual congress in that city. The annual session included a sale of Berkshires and 50 pigs were sold. Mr. Dodge purchased four for Hood farm and the top price paid for any of the pigs was $200. This, Mr. Dodge says is a pretty good price for Berkshires.

The annual session of the Berkshire congress was held in connection with the national corn show and Mr. Dodge says it was undoubtedly the best corn show ever seen in the United States. "It was a most magnificent show," he said, "and one worth going hundreds of miles to see. There was corn from every state in the union and in such quantities as to make one wonder where it came from."

The show was held in a mammoth pavilion on the fair grounds. It continued for three days and the average attendance was about 10,000 a day. All of the agricultural interests throughout the country were represented and there were speakers present, not only from all over the United States, but from Canada and Europe. It was a great big affair and very successful.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER'S REPORT

$25'657.60, Including Interest, Paid Commonwealth During Year—Other Notes

As required by law the county commissioners have submitted their report upon the affairs of the county for the year ending Dec. 31, 1912, which is in part as follows:

During the year the sum of $25,657.60, including interest, has been paid the commonwealth, the same being one quarter of the expense involved by the construction of state highways within the county during 1912.

By the terms of the act requiring payment, one quarter of any money expended in any county for a state highway within three years after the date of the act shall be repaid by the county to the commonwealth in such reasonable sums within six years thereafter as the state highway commission with the approval of the state auditor shall determine, taking into consideration the financial condition of the county. The whole sum due the commonwealth on account of work performed from 1884 to 1911 inclusive, has been paid. The sum due on account of work done in 1912, viz: $25,657.60, with interest at the rate of 3 per cent, will be paid the coming year.

The total amount of receipts during 1912 was $1,317,094.42, while the expenditures were the same. As set forth in last year's report, the commissioners had proceeded as required by chapter 591 of the acts of 1910, to construct the river road, so-called, in Dracut, between Varnum's Landing and the Methuen line and expended therefor from the county treasury a sum in excess of $14,000. Of this sum 35 per cent was to be paid by the city of Lowell under the terms of the act and fifteen per cent by the town of Dracut. The town has paid for its share, amounting to $2,182.10. The amount due from the city of Lowell, $5,593.57, was paid late in the year.

During the five years beginning in 1912, the highway commission, by a legislative act of 1912, is authorized to expend $5,000,000 or $1,000,000 each year in the improvements of the highways. This is at twice the rate of expenditure provided in previous years, and the county's contribution towards this expense, or 25 per cent of the amount expended by the state, probably be double that of the past few years. Instead of about $50,000 per year, this year towards the cost of state highways.

Tyngsboro
During the past year it became necessary to relay the plank on the Tyngsboro bridge. After advertising for bids the William P. Proctor Co. of North Chelmsford was awarded the contract for furnishing the plank, the final expense being $123,675. Local labor was employed in placing the plank on the bridge at an expense of $429.98. Wood preservative was used at a cost of $54.00. The bridge has also been painted.

Dracut
This is the petition for specific repairs of Bridge street from the Lowell-Dracut boundary line to the southerly terminus of the macadamized road built by the county in 1903. After the necessary hearings the street was ordered regraded to the full width between curb lines, with a macadam surface. Vitrified clay pipe is to be laid for drainage with catch basins and pipes leading thereto. The work was ordered completed before November 1, 1912, the date of the return being May 15, 1912. Owing to the large amount of highway work which the town was obliged to do the past season, and the financial burdens which this work compelled, the repairs ordered on Bridge street have not been completed.

This petition asks for specific repairs on the Mammoth road and return was duly made in July, 1911, ordering a new road-bed from the Lowell line to the New Hampshire state line, a distance of nearly three miles. The town appropriated $10,000 towards this work, and during the past season about 3500 feet of new road bed has been constructed in a thorough manner. Of this amount the county reimbursed the town the sum of $333.23.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Jack Rose, the police informer whose testimony played so important a part in the conviction of Charles Becker, formerly police lieutenant, and the four gangsters for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, yesterday appeared before a referee in Long Island City for examination in his bankruptcy petition, in which he declared that he is without funds and owes more than $12,000. The 20 claims against him, Rose said, were for money borrowed, clothing and jewelry and for medical services.

When none of the creditors appeared the referee authorized Rose's attorney to ask the court to declare him a bankrupt. The hearing on this petition probably will be held today. Rose gave his address as Long Island City and his present business that of promoter.

Tyngsboro bridge maintained by the county by reason of a legislative act of 1883, extends across the Boston and Maine railroad and the Merrimack river, a distance of 600 feet. It has a roadway of a width of 15 feet.

Tewksbury
Andover street was relocated in 1910 near its junction with Pike street at North Tewksbury. The work was completed in the year 1911 and early in 1912 the county's share of the expense, namely $440.00, was paid to the town. The expense of this work to the town is not known accurately but it was in excess of $300.00, the land damage at $40.00. The work was awarded by the commissioners amounting to $220.00.

Billerica
This was the petition for the alteration of Pollard street, where it crosses the Concord river at the Fordway bridge, North Billerica. The petition was filed in October, 1911, and after a series of hearings the commissioners issued a final return in June, 1912. A new bridge was ordered built across the Concord river within the location of the highway as established by the commissioners in 1885. The bridge is to have a length of 314 feet and 10 inches and a width of 44 feet and 10 inches. It is to consist of reinforced concrete supported on abutments and five piers. On one side of the bridge there is a space for a double track street railway and the roadway is about 21 feet in width with a sidewalk on the southerly side six feet in width. The approaches are to be graded to conform to the new bridge, and the surface of the roadway including the space occupied by the street railway tracks is to be macadamized. The work was ordered to be completed before Dec. 1, 1912. The estimated cost of the structure is about $25,000, of which sum the county is to pay $7,100, the remaining share of the expense to be paid by the town and street railway company in accordance with an agreement between them. The work has proceeded during the summer and fall months and is nearly completed. The bridge will be a fine structure.

Vitified clay pipe is to be laid for drainage with catch basins and pipes leading thereto. The work was ordered completed before November 1, 1912, the date of the return being May 15, 1912. Owing to the large amount of highway work which the town was obliged to do the past season, and the financial burdens which this work compelled, the repairs ordered on Bridge street have not been completed.

PARDON IS UP TO SWIFT

Question of the Legality of Conditions

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—The governor's council will ask Attorney-General Swift today for an opinion on the question of whether or not it can impose conditions upon the pardon of Charles F. King.

It is the opinion of Lieutenant-Governor David I. Walsh that the imprisoned financier should be released only on the condition that he will at no time engage in business.

Practically Parole
What the council now proposes to do, with the consent of the governor already assured, is to grant King a pardon which practically amounts to a parole, with all the conditions imposed by the prison commission and some additional restrictions.

The question has arisen as to whether or not the council may impose and carry out any restrictions that it may place upon the liberty of King. It is for the purpose of determining just what the power of the council is in the matter, the attorney-general will be consulted.

It is held by the lieutenant-governor that the prison commission has the authority to carry out the additional restrictions that may be placed upon the pardon by the council.

It is very improbable that a full pardon will be granted. King himself, in talking with the council, said that he would be perfectly satisfied if he were "permitted to die at home."

Death Not at Hand
It was called to the attention of the council, however, that there is no immediate danger of King's death. He may live for some years. Although the hernia from which he is suffering is incurable, and eventually may result in death, it is possible for him to walk two or three miles and to engage in business if released.

It is this condition which makes it impossible to grant a full pardon, according to Lieutenant-Governor Walsh. Mr. Walsh points out that should King be permitted a pardon without restrictions the same criticism might be made as in the case of Charles W. Morse.

The lieutenant-governor said last night that, strictly speaking, the council had no right to consider any plan of pardon except that asked by Governor Foss, since the question of whether or not the prisoner should be finally pardoned rested with Mr. Foss.

"As a matter of fact, I do not believe that there are any circumstances under which a full pardon should be granted," said Lieutenant-Governor Walsh. "When a man is sent to prison the courts have sentenced him after a full and just consideration of the merits of the case. Should the council pardon the man, it should only be done with restrictions which would make the pardon in effect a parole. I believe that there should be legislation to this effect."

Under the terms of the parole law a man cannot be released unless he has served two-thirds of his term. That the council, however, may issue a conditional pardon or a parole and that under the law the prison commission may carry out its terms is the present contention. A large number of protests are being received daily against the pardon.

Engineman Escapes With Bruises When Switch Locomotive is "Side-swiped" in Gardner

GARDNER, Feb. 7.—A Boston & Maine train, known as Fitchburg local 243, sideswiped the Gardner switch locomotive as it was backing off the Derby side track, west of Bull Run crossing, at 10.45 yesterday morning.

Robert H. Cutting, engineman on the switcher, when he saw the freight locomotive approaching, applied the air brakes and jumped down a steep embankment. He escaped with a severe bruise of his right knee. His fireman escaped without injury as did the crew in the freight locomotive.

Both locomotives were damaged somewhat and traffic was blocked on North Main and Mechanic streets for nearly an hour. The switch locomotive was knocked off the tracks.

The accident, it is said, was due to a misunderstanding on the part of the crew of the freight train, as the switcher was protected and was backing out a string of freight cars onto the main line when the accident happened.

ECZEMA BROKE OUT IN PIMPLES

On Arms, then Back and Legs, Itched Very Much. Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Son in Terrible Shape with Eczema. Now Face and Body Good as Ever.

49 Sidney St., Cambridge, Mass.—"Last September I began to feel itching. I would scratch myself and I could not sleep half the night. The eczema broke out in pimples. It first came on my arms and then my back and my legs. My body and legs were a sight. Water came from the pimples. It itched very much, more at night than in the day. I would make them bleed, trying to get relief. I got two bottles of medicine and also some ointment which did me no good. After I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment I got relief that very night and could sleep. It took about six or seven weeks to cure me."

"My son aged ten years was in terrible shape with eczema. He had it all over his body and also on his face. He was so bad we had to keep him home from school for two weeks. His scratching disfigured his face. There were large scars from his scratching all night on his body and on his face. My wife used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment three times a day. The sores on his face were the worst ones. The scab came off and left a red spot as large as a quarter of a dollar. In seven or eight days the red spots faded away and his face and body are as good as ever, not a scar, no disfigurement whatsoever." (Signed) Geo. B. Rogers, Sept. 27, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c and Cuticura Ointment 50c are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 22-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."
